— — — — — THE SCHOOL

Our illustrious school awaited us.

Registration was a busy time.

With the coming of the fall semester and registration, DHS welcomed ten new teachers to the faculty. Our traditional homecoming game was the highlight of the football season.

Mr. Roe was welcomed to our teaching staff by Mr. Robertson.

The football players were honored at a banquet.

The DHS Homecoming bonfire band in action was enjoyed by all.

November—Bermuda shorts were in vogue at the Bermuda dance.

The boys' gym was jammed with "bows" and "beaus" for the Sadie Hawkins dance.

In the Thanksgiving assembly, the Wranglers questioned Bernie, our foreign student, on Swedish customs.

Dances were a part of our eventful and enjoyable extra-curricular life. From dances after the football games to the Junior-Senior Prom, we had a well filled social life.

The cleaning of the lockers marked the end of the first semester. As a second semester project, the Student Council planned a detailed clean-up campaign for the city of Danville.

Locker cleaning filled the trash barrels.

The majorettes were "off to the races" at Moments Musical.

DHS was blessed with talented students whose performances were effectively displayed in the annual productions and assemblies.

DHS was a semi-perpetual motion machine. Even during classtime, a posture-conscious speech class with crowns of books might have been seen strolling down the long corridors. At the tone of the 3:05 bell, the parking lot became alive and crawling; however, the day was not ended for many.

The mechanized army at DHS at rest showed the many cars.

A speech class's venture to a movie was a sight to behold.

The Home Economics Open House Tea Party entertained many.

A spot of tea was enjoyed by the student teachers.

John Deck wrote a transfer while acting as Dean of Boys.

"Watch the running!" was the noon hour cry.

Student Government Day, sponsored by the Student Council, was a day of relief for the faculty. There were student teachers, Deans, and a student principal. Controlling the lunchtime traffic was also undertaken by the Student Council this year. A new and successful three-bell system was developed for this purpose.

There was no rest for the seniors with graduation just around the corner. The Senior Class play, the parties, dances, college invitations, scholarships, Class Day, Baccalaureate, practices, and other events kept the seniors well occupied.

The seniors were measured for their caps and gowns.

The tools which we used to build were furnished by the parents and taxpayers. Representing the citizens were members of the Board of Education who gave willingly of their time and effort for the advancement of the educational facilities of the city schools.

The board was headed this year by Dr.

Holland Williamson. Mrs. Vera Johnson served as secretary.

Dr. J. McLean Reed, City Superintendent of Schools, worked in close cooperation with the board and school officials to constantly improve the Danville public school system.

High School Administration

We at Danville High School were very fortunate to have such an excellent administration. Through their patient understanding and cooperation, we have grown to respect their judgments and decisions.

They gave us much helpful advice and counsel. In the guidance office, we learned of aptitude tests, high school courses, graduation and college requirements, and scholarships.

We owe these people a great deal of thanks for the concern and attention they showed us in any matter we brought to their attention.

The Danville High School Parent-Teachers Association opened the school year by touring the high school with Student Council members as guides. Guest speakers included Mrs. John W. Cossairt from the Family Service Bureau and Judge Frank Meyer.

Mrs. Melvin Lewis presided, assisted by Mrs. Everett Cheney, first vice-president; Mr. E. D. Milhon, second vice-president; Mrs. Charles Whelan, secretary; Mrs. Glenn Gill, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Dickerson, program chairman; Mrs. Robert Bengry, membership chairman; Mrs. Albert Goulding, hospitality; Mrs. Willard Gahan, publicity; Mrs. Marion Wright, music; and Mrs. Frank Estes, finance.

High School Offices

The offices of DHS were some of the busiest places in school.

The business office, supervised by Mr. Loy Froman, business director, and Mr. Hayes, assistant business director, handled finances of school organizations and the distribution of tickets for all events. New students paid for locks, handbooks, and book rental there.

Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Quick in the principal's office kept on file class records of grades, credits, schedules, attendance, and rank. They prepared the honor roll lists and school bulletins, were in charge of the lost and found and post boxes, and gave general information.

Mr. Hill and Mrs. Seaton of the attendance office checked transfers and a list of the absentees from all classes. A permanent record was kept of all the absences during the school year.

The duties of Miss Grace Brandenberger and her secretary, Miss Judy Ostenberg, were to order and distribute film. Day slips, the records of the days wanted, were typed and then the request was "booked" or reserved for the teacher.

Miss Judy Garrison assisted Mr. Bates in the guidance office as secretary, helping with testing, schedules and other guidance programs.

The cafeteria staff under Mr. Chic Cole, was responsible for preparing and serving the many thousands of meals required by DHS students. Their day began very early, and often by the time school started pleasant aromas were drifting up from the kitchen.

The cafeteria provided nourishing, inexpensive meals served twice a day to the majority of the student body and the faculty. Six lunch lines were in operation this year, four plate lunches, and two sandwich, offering a variety of foods.

A line where candy, potato chips, pop, milk, and ice cream could be bought was also provided so that those students who brought their lunch from home could supplement their meal.

The tasks of the maintenance staff were many and varied. Mr. C. J. Plymire was supervisor of all the work done in the Danville Schools. Mr. Earl Hartshorn was the head custodian here at DHS. The jobs around school varied from sweeping the floors each day to the care of scenery and the care of the swimming pool. Other tasks included seeing that the lights and the clocks are in working order, window washing, heating the school, and the purification of water. DHS used water from an underground stream and did not use city water.

HEATING PLANT STAFF

Standing: R. Keefer; F. Bonebrake; W. Wiese; D. Martin.
Seated: V. Parker; F. Bailey; C. J. Plymire, Supt. of Buildings.

During vacation times much time was spent on building repair. Desks were refinished, floors were waxed, and paint was applied where needed. The school grounds and football field also required special care.

The cafeteria and maintenance staffs played an important part around school. They were responsible for providing a comfortable atmosphere around school and making life happier for the student.

In Memoriam

DHS was saddened by the loss of two well-known custodians this winter.

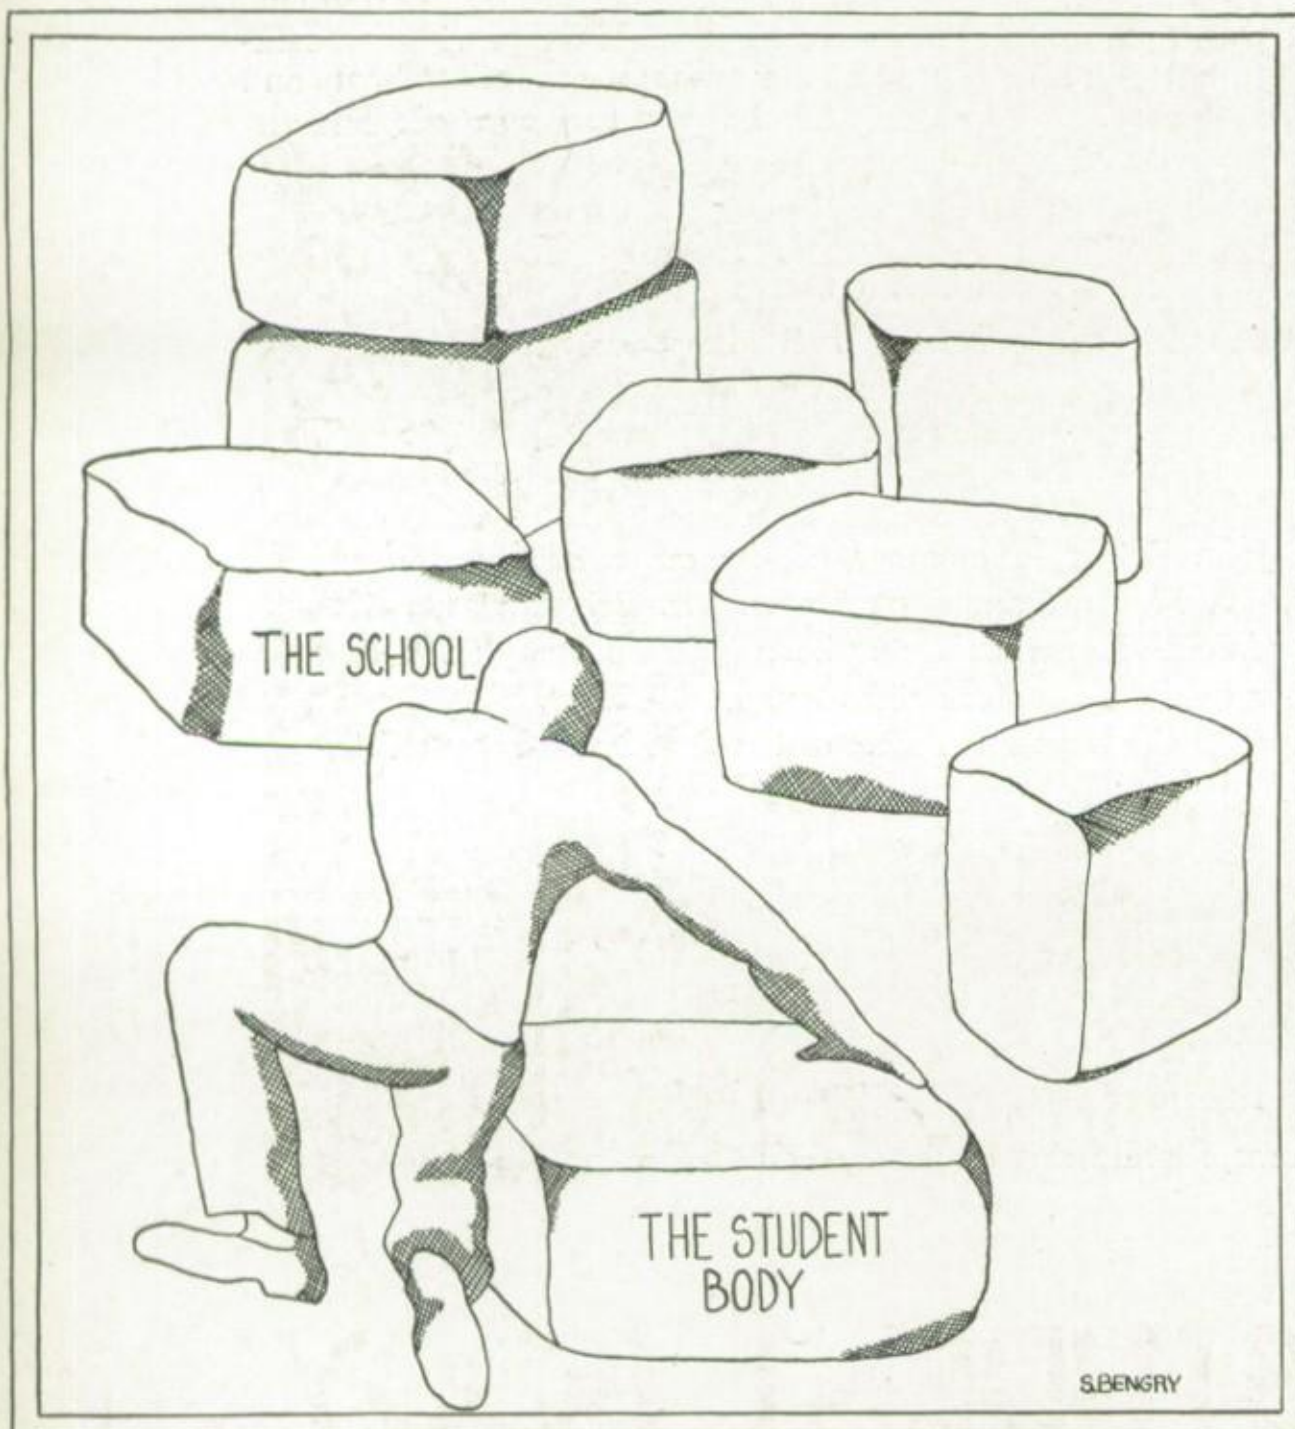

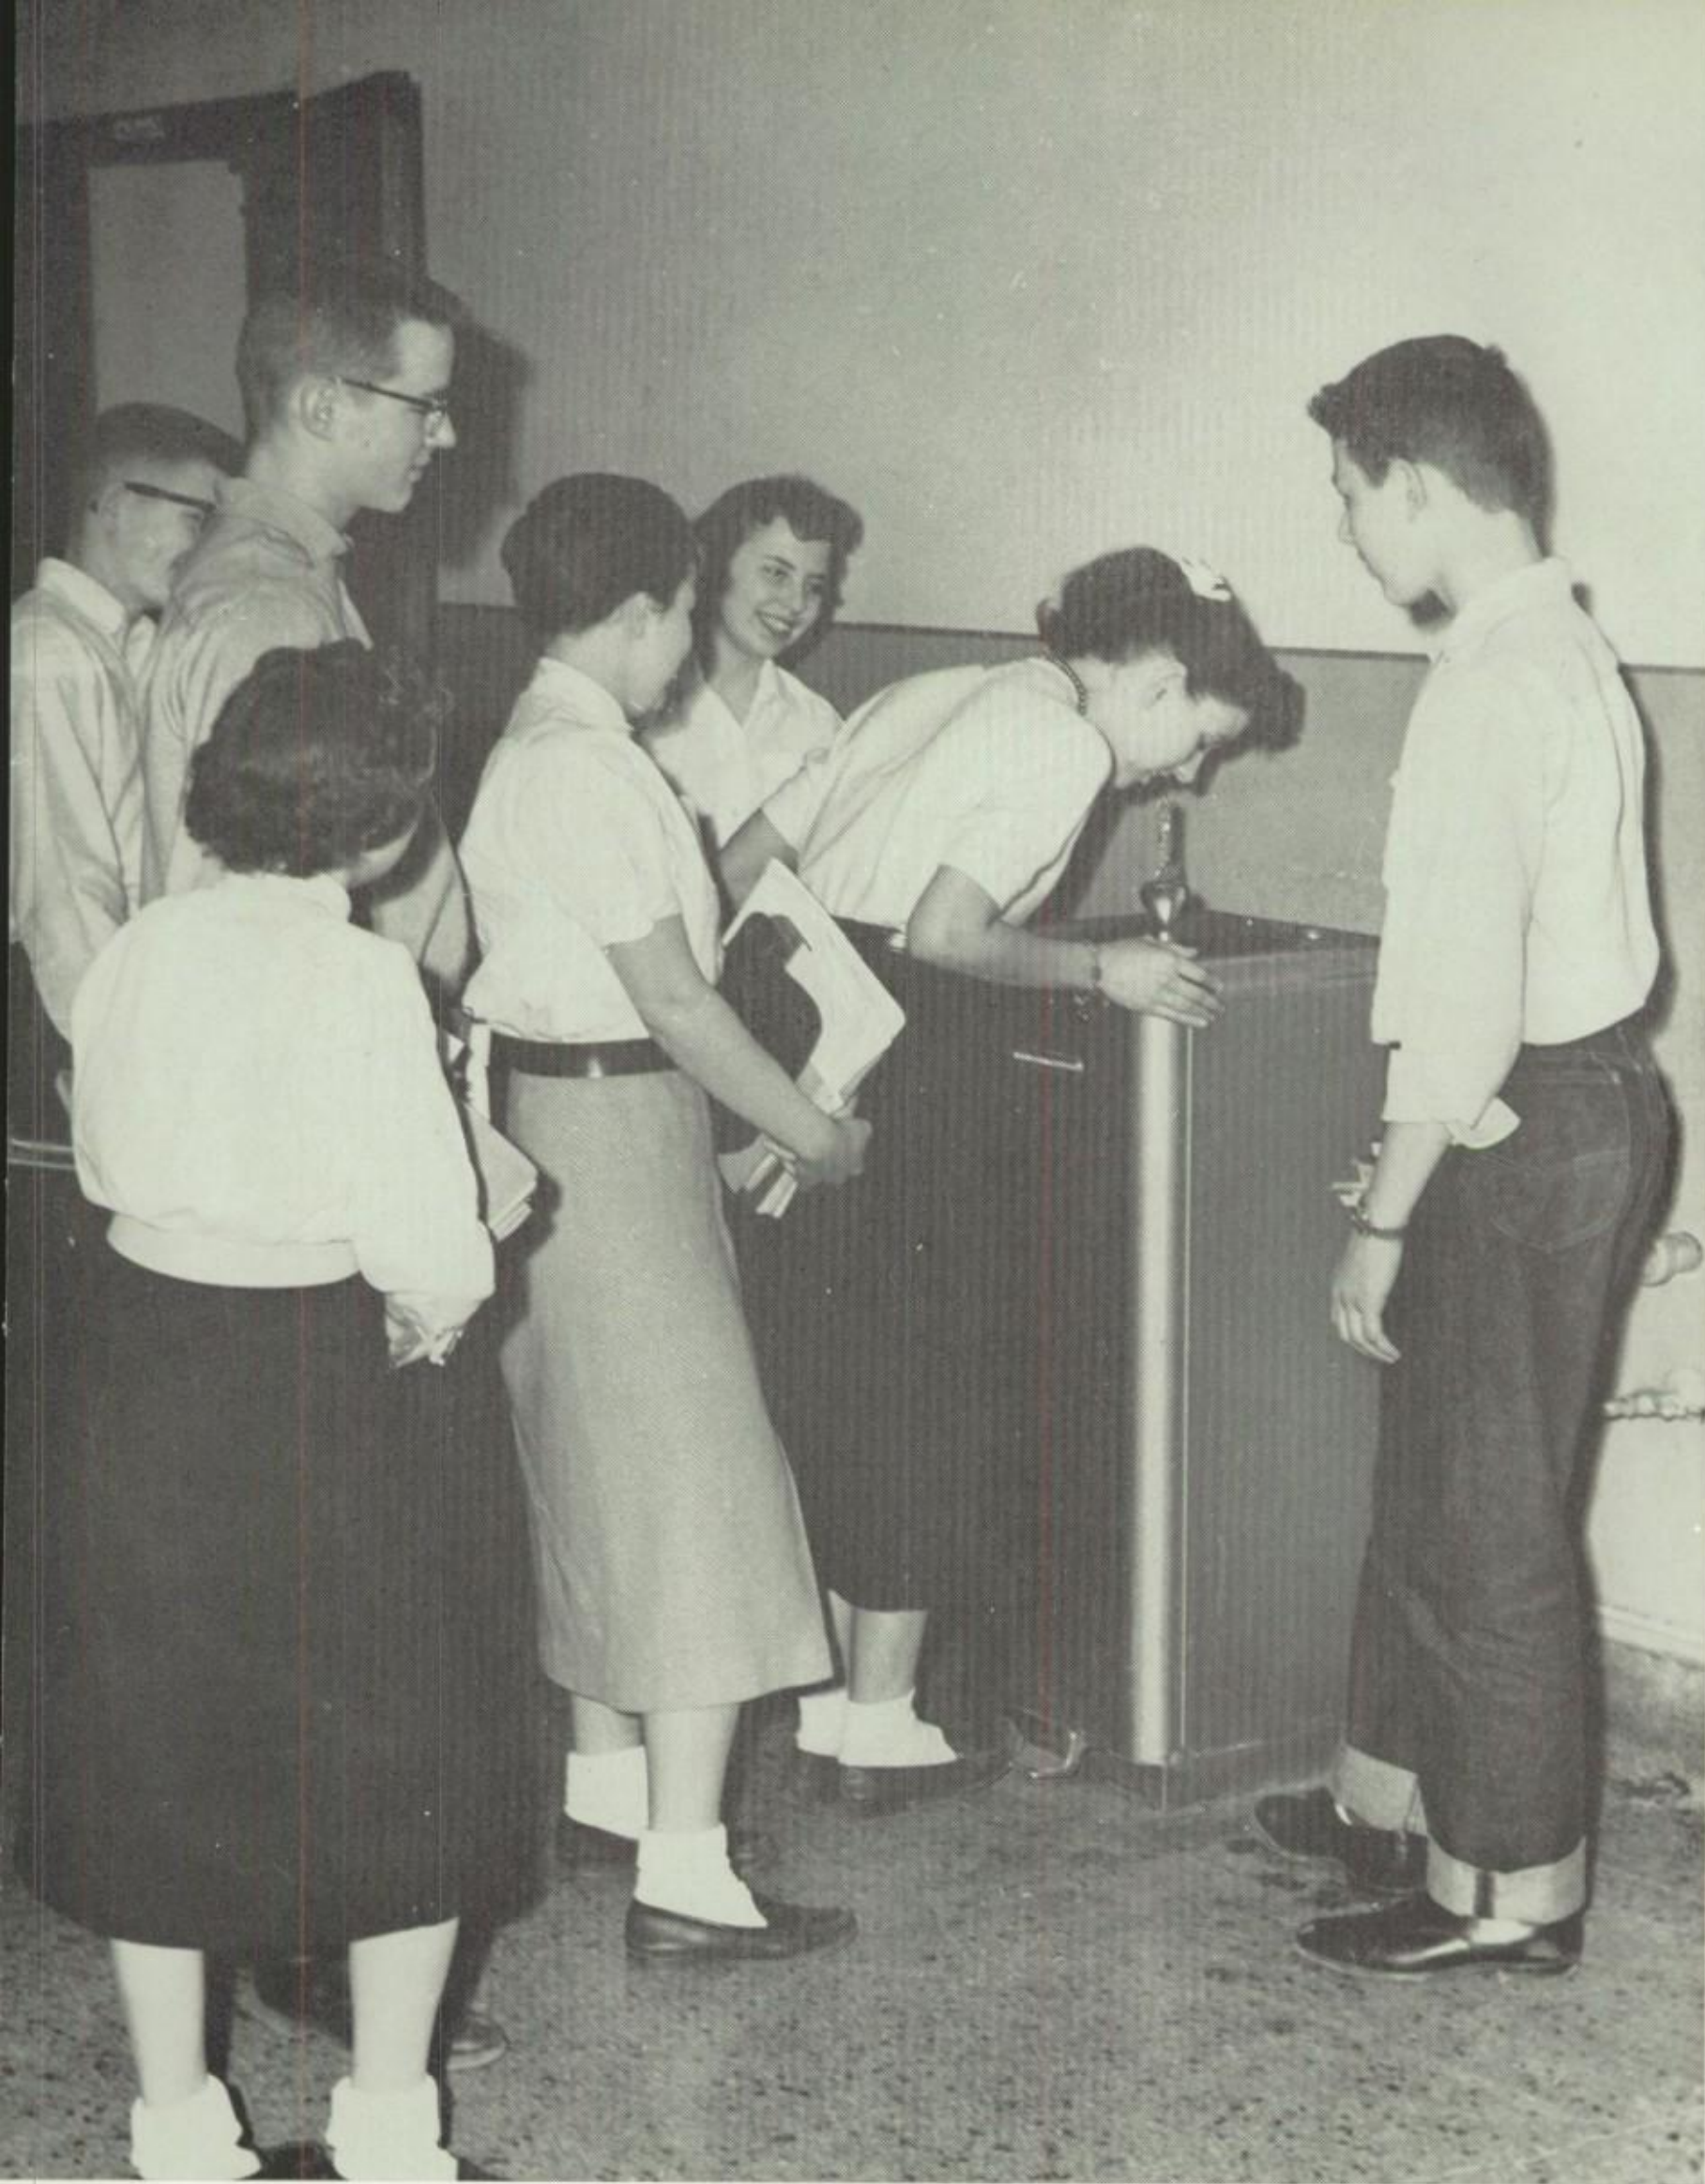

Mr. John Briggs, a member of the custodial force, died February 10, 1956 after a short illness. Mr. Briggs was a life resident of South Danville, having been born February 28, 1894. A member of the custodians since August 30, 1948, "John" was best known to the boys since most of the time he had worked in the gym.

Mr. Arthur H. Williams, first heating engineer, died December 22, 1955 following a heart attack. A native of Catlin, Mr. Williams was born December 9, 1881. Especially interested in the improvement of the DHS swimming pool he had spent much time working with that, and had been very interested in the teams. He had been on the heating plant staff since January 3, 1929.

The measure of the strength of a high school is its student body. We like to believe that Danville High School students show a capacity for fine friendship and leadership. Some have gone farther than others in accepting responsibility, but each and every one is a part of our second foundation stone

— — — THE STUDENT BODY

Senior Class

The Senior class of 1956 spent a happy, fun-filled four years at Danville High School. We have donned our caps and gowns, but will not soon forget the trig and physics problems, the punctuation and themes, the one hundred words per minute dictation, the teaching experience—the cramming for exams, the teachers, parties, dances, clubs, and sports.

Leading us through our freshman year was president George Frock. We sported a brilliant green, but not for long. With Jerry Roberts as our sophomore president, we proved ourselves industrious by decorating for the All School party and holding a dance. As upperclassmen, we provided the refreshments for Homecoming and undertook the responsibility of the Junior-

Senior Prom. Larry Pattison presided that year. Our senior year we elected Ronald Gillum, president; Rae Lewis, vice president; Kay Lash, secretary; Susan Bengry, social chairman; Sally Enos, historian; and Barney Hammer, Judy Emery, and Donna Bobbett, student council representatives. Directing the Senior committees were Norris Lang, motto; Gerald Smith, song; Sharon McMullen and Steve Smith, program; Mary Ann Pichon, gift; Hank Berg, color; and Jim Timberlake, invitations.

Bob Kukla and Dick Renfro composed the class song; Jenna Vaught and Ronald Gillum were chosen as our best citizens—our colors were avocado and gold; our motto, "Here today for education; gone tomorrow to serve our nation." Miss Wolff was our invaluable adviser.

President Ron Gillum and assistants Kathleen Barnes and Linda Bishop did KP duty for the coffee hour preceding College Day interviews.

The college representatives held interviews all day in the library and 117 for prospective students.

Jenna Vaught, Ronald Gillum.

Best Boy and Girl Citizens

Dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism, the characteristics of a best citizen, perfectly described the Best Girl and Boy Citizens for 1956—Jenna Vaught and Ronald Gillum. Jenna and Ronnie were chosen by their classmates and faculty members. Both have been very active, ranked high in their studies, and have assumed responsibilities in and out of school.

Jenna served as president of Dramatic Club this year and has had a role in the club's productions, "Boarding House Reach" her junior year and "Andy Hardy" her senior year. Jenna was on the Medley staff, in Wranglers Club and Speakers Bureau, Girls' Club, Future Teachers, and Radio Staff.

The duties of the Senior Class president and Maroon and White news editor kept Ronnie busy along with Dramatic Club and Science Club. He played the title role in "Mr. Icebox," the class play.

Being Best Citizens is nothing new to these two. Ronnie was Best Boy Citizen of his eighth grade class at Daniel Grade School, while Jenna was Best Girl Citizen at Roselawn.

Awards to the Best Girl Citizen were made by the Daughters of the American Revolution and Girls' Club. The Kiwanis Club honored the Best Boy Citizen. Both were honored by the American Legion.

Jenna worked hard on the Organization Staff of the Medley.

As News Editor of the Maroon and White, Ronnie found his time well occupied.

UNFOLDING BANNERS

MUSIC BY BOB KUKLA

WORDS BY RICHARD RENFRO

The musical score is written on ten staves, alternating between treble and bass clefs. The melody is in 4/4 time. The lyrics are written below the staves, with some words appearing above notes for emphasis. The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, and accidentals.

In these dear halls of D. H. S. We've known some tears, we've known suc-cess Yet We're here to-day for education Tomorrow gone to serve our nation Our like the wondrous knights of old, Our statley banners we un-fold The glorious banners raised on high Our fullest hopes reach to the sky And Av-o-ca-do green of earth the Gold, the sun and all its mirth. To-in the years that are to come We'll treasure all that here we've won.

-day this great world of ours O-pens outward toward the stars We hope and pray that by God's hand We go to serve our Fel-low man.

Junior Class

As they approached the final year of their high school career, the juniors made ready to assume the responsibilities of seniors. They prepared themselves well for the duties to come. There were always the formulas to learn in chemistry, essays to read by Emerson, the spherical triangles to draw in solid geometry, Virgil to translate in Latin, and Civil War to review in history.

The Junior Achievement program sponsored by business firms of the community gave those who participated an opportunity to make and sell useful products. They achieved a sense of responsibility by owning and selling stock.

Social chairman, Marilyn Coopersmith, and her committees worked diligently and made this year's Junior-Senior Prom among the finest. Heading the committees were Terry Allen and Carol Smith, decorations; Ada Mary Castle, invitations and programs; Leslie McMahon, refreshments. Through the publicity and program committees, the prom was given a final polish. Miss Betty Sullenberger, junior adviser, directed all of the Junior activities. Dave Neupert served as president; Bob Reetz, vice president; Pat Carpenter, secretary-treasurer; and Ed Miller, Myrna Pichon, and Marilyn Coolley, student council representatives.

Mrs. Colberg; Bob Martin, president; Mr. Robertson.

Half of the sophomores' high-school career is over. With two years behind them, they soon will be juniors and have the honor of being upperclassmen. As they look back, the greenness definitely gone forever, the sophomores returned to school ready for fun, work, and whatever would come in their second year. To them this year has been one of speeches—odd objects, chalk talks, and such, frogs in biology, geometry theorems, and Caesar. New honors and privileges were given them.

As the year progressed, the time came for their big social event of the year, the sophomore spring dance. As plans were made, the sophomores learned to work together, have fun together, and meet crises both large and small. They became a close, hardworking group. Social chairman Daryl Jo Pifer headed the plan making, aided by class officers, committee chairmen, and the rest of the class.

Besides their own class projects, the sophomores have been active in all phases of school activities. They have their musicians, journalists, club speakers and entertainers, honor students, athletes, and artists. In the future they have many happy moments for which to look forward. From the past they will have many wonderful memories of classmates and classwork done.

President Bob Martin led the class through their highly successful year, ably assisted by vice president Nancy Johnston. Other class officers were secretary Paul Johnson, and student council members John Demos, Judy Meek, and Patricia Songer. Their faculty advisers were Mrs. Dorothy Colberg and Mr. Glen Robertson.

One of the memories of every sophomore was of English 4, and the many speeches given. These students waited in Mr. Purkey's class for their turn to speak.

The sophomore officers found out the way to hang crepe paper as they prepared to decorate for the all-school party.

Mr. Zeiter; Gene Wright, president.

Freshman Class

The Class of '59 entered their first year eager and willing to co-operate with the students and teachers. Mr. Martin Zeiter, their adviser, guided their footsteps in the right direction.

Early in the fall they elected officers. Gene Wright was voted president; Joan Davis, vice-president; Janet Pergakes, secretary-treasurer; Joyce Goble, social chairman; Susan Strauss, Connie Stowring and Jim Davis, Student Council representatives.

Soon they became involved in the daily whirl of school life. Freshman days were filled with chapters to read for social studies, lessons to write for English, algebra equations to solve, general science experiments to perform, exploratory shop lessons to learn and business training workbooks to be completed.

In a short while many of the class members became interested in various clubs and athletic teams and they all came to feel they were a real part of DHS.

In April the class party, Freshman Frolic, gave all members of the group a chance to get acquainted. Dancing, games, entertainment and refreshments were provided under the direction of the class officers.

As the year ended the freshmen felt they had completed one step toward their goal of a high school diploma and were eagerly awaiting fall and sophomore standing.

Freshmen bought their locks the first day.

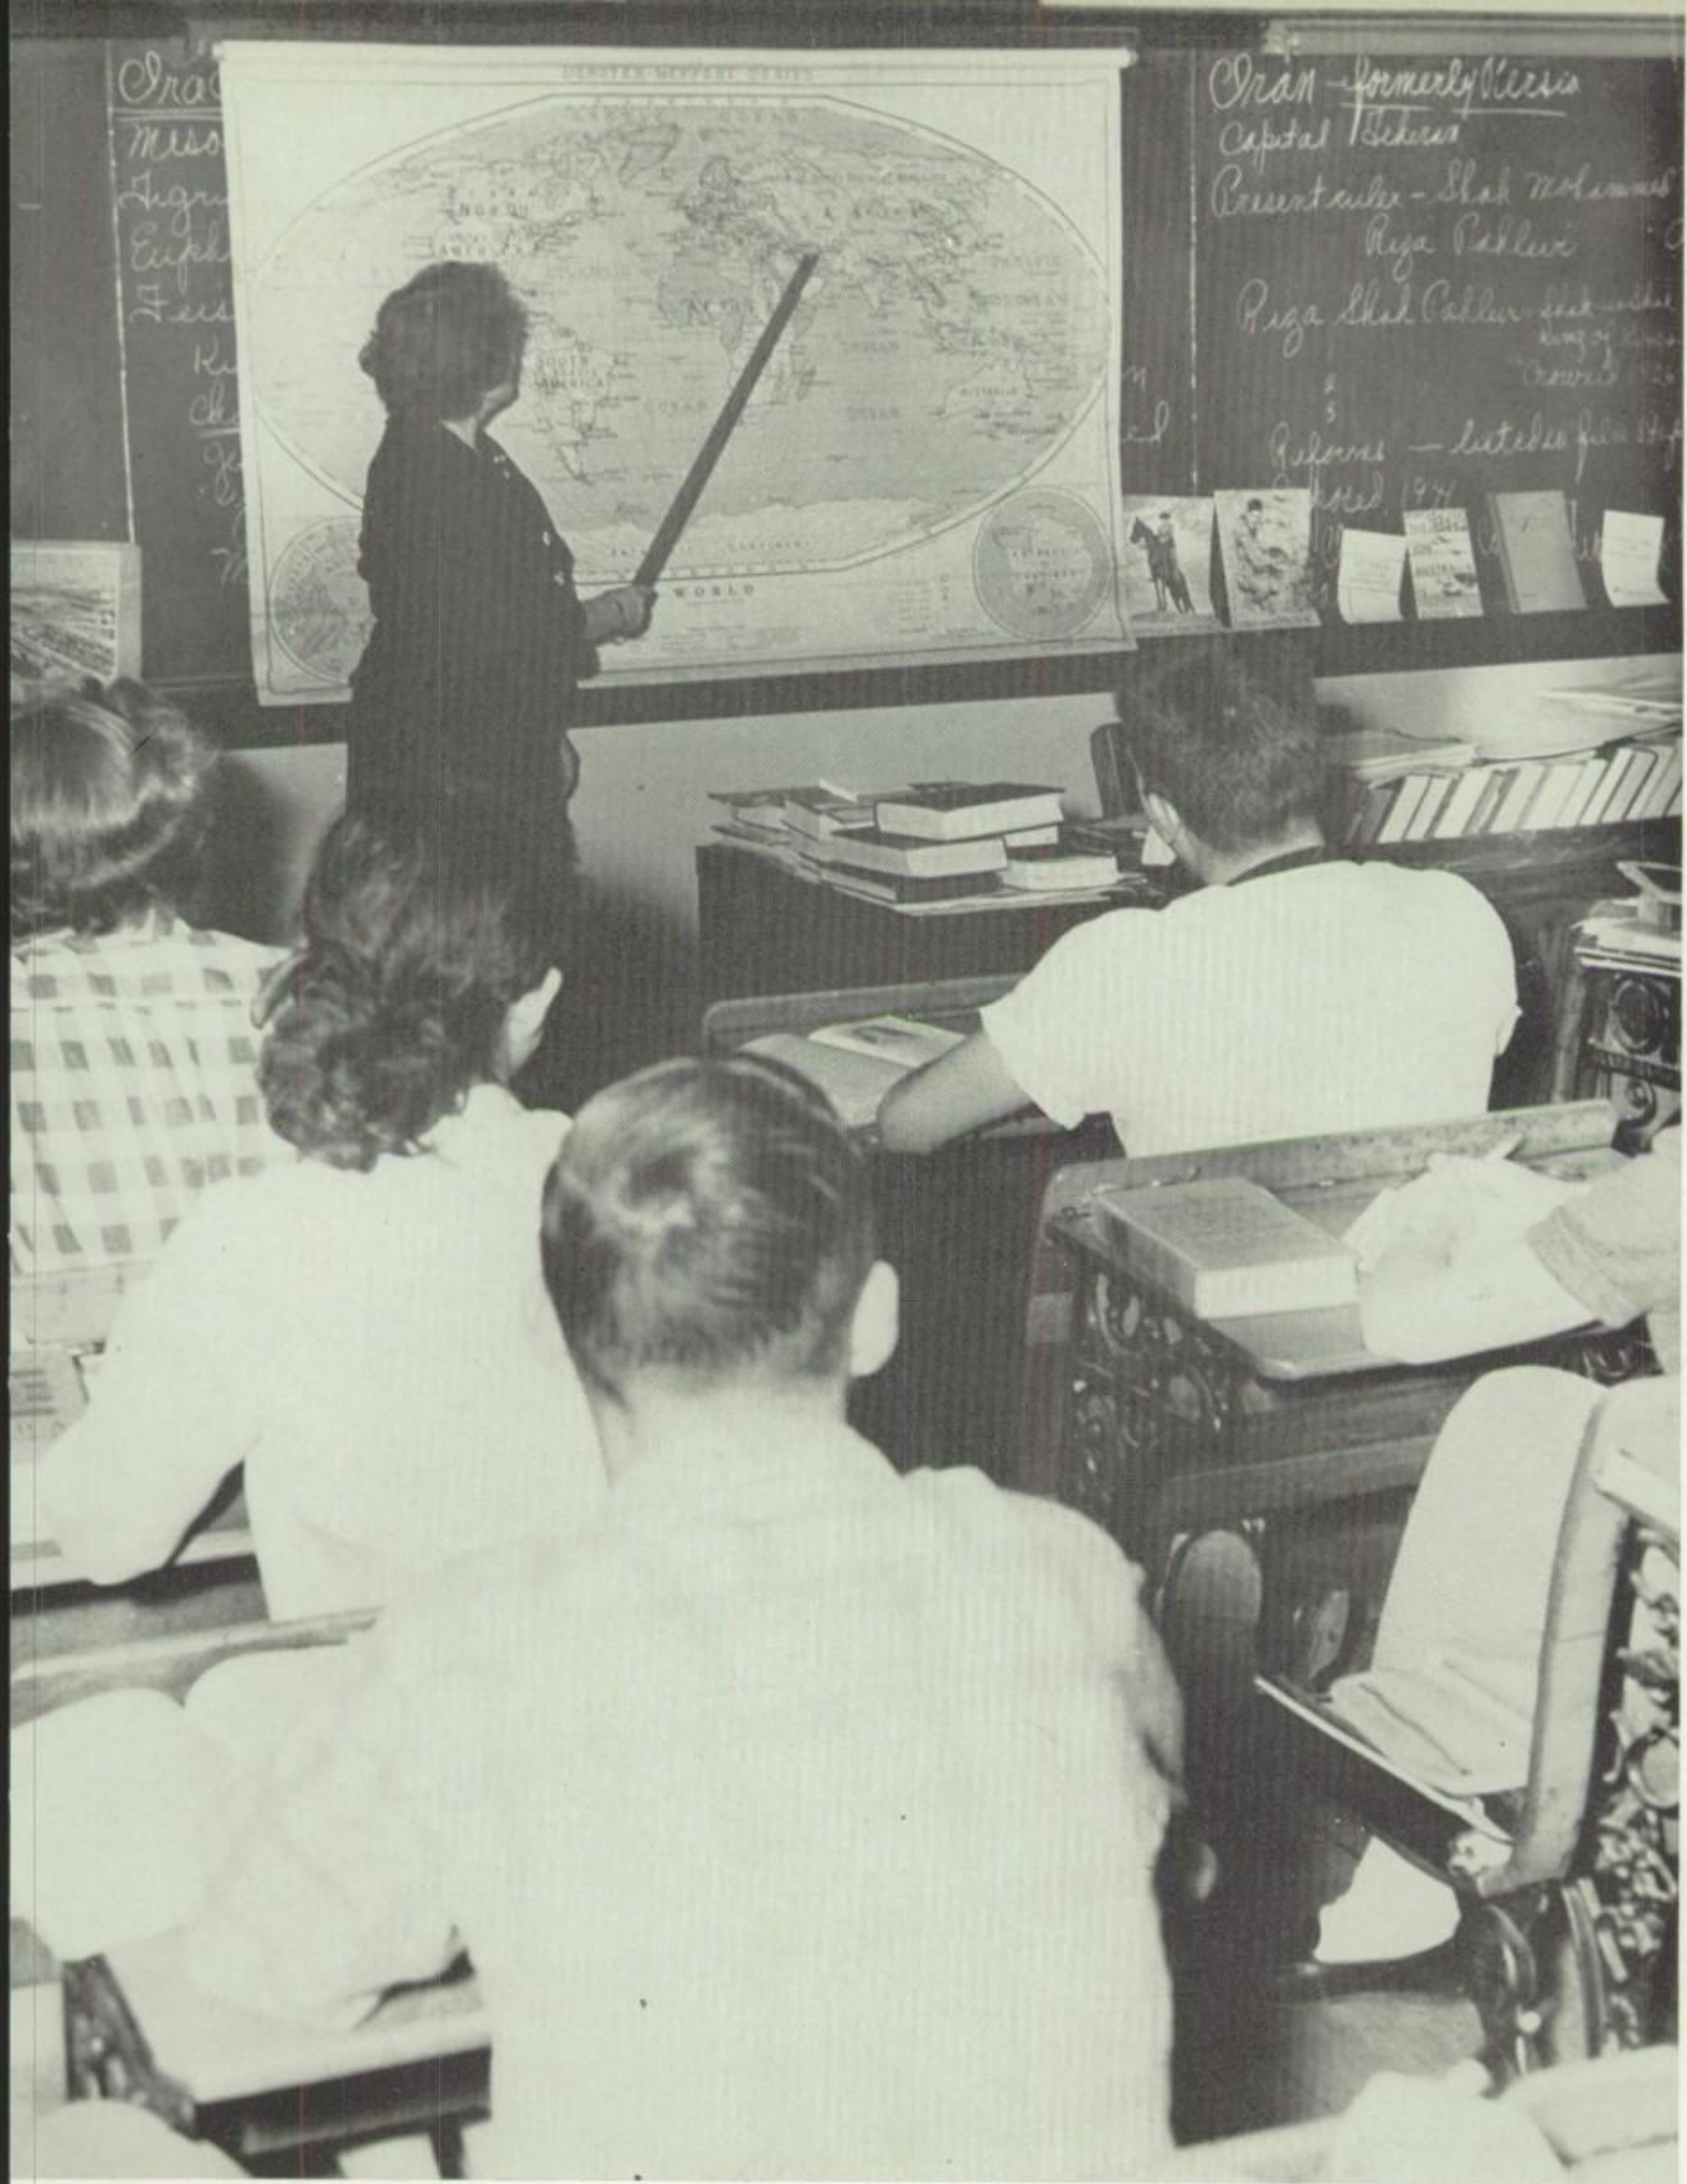

Freshmen girls got acquainted with DHS.

This stone represents an endless source of knowledge and information. We are supplied with an abundance of educational facilities to further our vocational interests. The use of these will help determine our success. The wide variety of fundamental courses and electives promotes an increased amount of learning in our

English Department

Miss Miller kept her Senior Grammar class in order.

The English department offered some of the most important courses in DHS; certainly they were among the most useful.

In no other department did you find material that would be used so extensively after high school. After graduation, a person must talk, write, and read.

Freshman English was a study of the fundamentals of grammar and of written composition.

The Sophomore's English 3 concentrated on the reading of Shakespeare's As You Like It and improving the students' writing ability; while Speech taught the fundamentals of speaking.

Barbara Bailey led a discussion in Miss Boyer's English Lit. class.

The advanced courses offered were the following: American Literature, a study of the writings of American authors, past and present; English Literature, a study of the writings of English authors; and Senior Grammar, the improvement of grammar and the enlargement of the vocabulary.

Some of the odd object talks in English 4 were quite interesting.

Social Science Department

Mr. Pittman discussed questions in his Social Science class.

To encourage patriotism, to teach how governments were formed, fought for, and run, to learn the background of our countries, to learn about the problems and situations of the world; these were only a few of the aims of the Social Science Department.

Two courses were required, six others offered.

Social Science, a required freshman course, was a study of school, community, and the events of the world. American History, another required course, presented the story of our country from beginning until the present.

World History students studied many of the events that have made and shaped the history of the world. Modern History concentrated on present day events.

Five one-semester courses were also offered; Psychology, Sociology, Government, Modern Problems and Geography.

Through these various courses, the department hoped to make the students into better citizens.

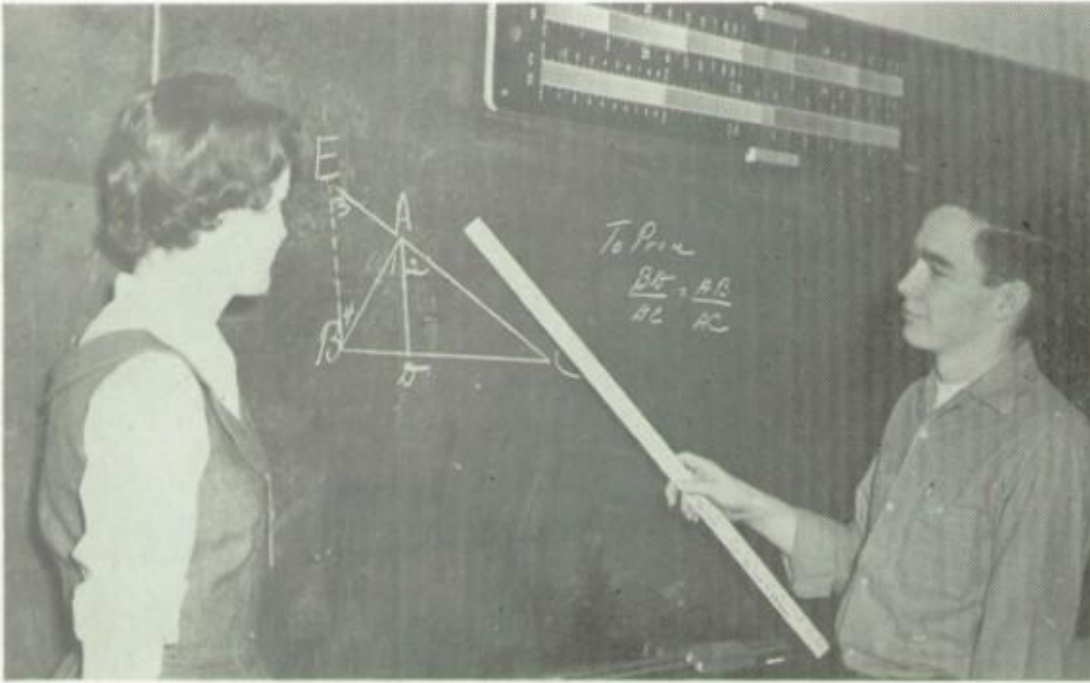

Reports were given in American History class.

Many students were interested in Sociology.

Mathematics Department

In Plane Geometry the angles of a polygon proved to be quite interesting.

The Mathematics Department at Danville High School was among the finest. High school mathematics provided a foundation for all fields of work in industry, science, business, and all other vocations. Science and mathematics worked hand in hand. Mathematics taught us to reason constructively and methodically; it will be used throughout life, day after day, year after year. Most universities require mathematics as an entrance requirement.

General Mathematics was basically arithmetic in advanced form. It was offered for freshman not going to college.

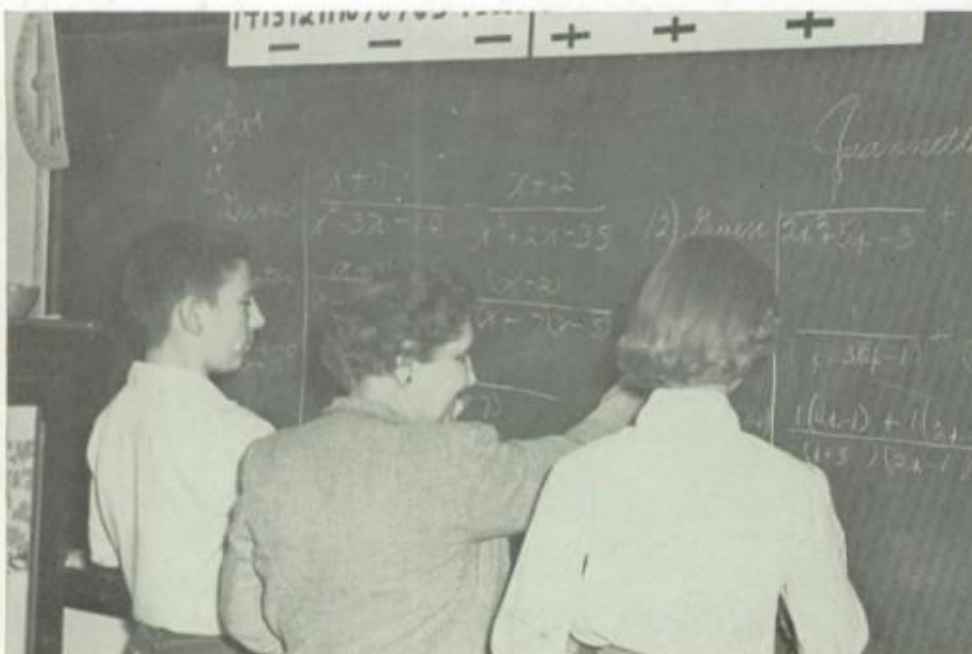

Algebra 1 and 2 opened a new door to mathematics. Considered fundamental, it introduced the unknown x and y . One used letters or symbols to represent a quantity.

Geometry 1 and 2 proved theorems about plane polygons. Solid Geometry had a lot of proofs of theorems and problems about solid or dimensional polygons.

Algebra 3 and 4 taught such things as graphing equations, ratio and proportion, variation, and binomial expansion. Trigonometry had such terms as sine, cosine, tangent, and their reciprocals.

Miss Frazier explained one of her Algebra 2 problems.

Janice Savage and Bob Kukla found the slide rule to be very helpful in Trig. and College Algebra.

Science Department

Mr. Christy's General Science students did some research.

To the students interested in the scientific world, the science department offered four courses, each a different study.

General science was an exploratory course offered to beginning students. Through this field, students were introduced to the scientific world and given a basis for advanced work. By knowing a little about each phase, students were then able to decide if they wanted to go on with their work and what type of work in which they were interested.

Collecting facts about plants and animals, studying them and trying to explain them were all parts of biology. With the use of projects, the students became acquainted with the world of nature; laboratory experiments served to further acquaint the students with nature's hows and whys.

Chemistry gave the students an explanation about substances, their composition, and the changes they undergo. These explanations were presented in various ways: in class discussions and by working many happy hours with the elements in the laboratory.

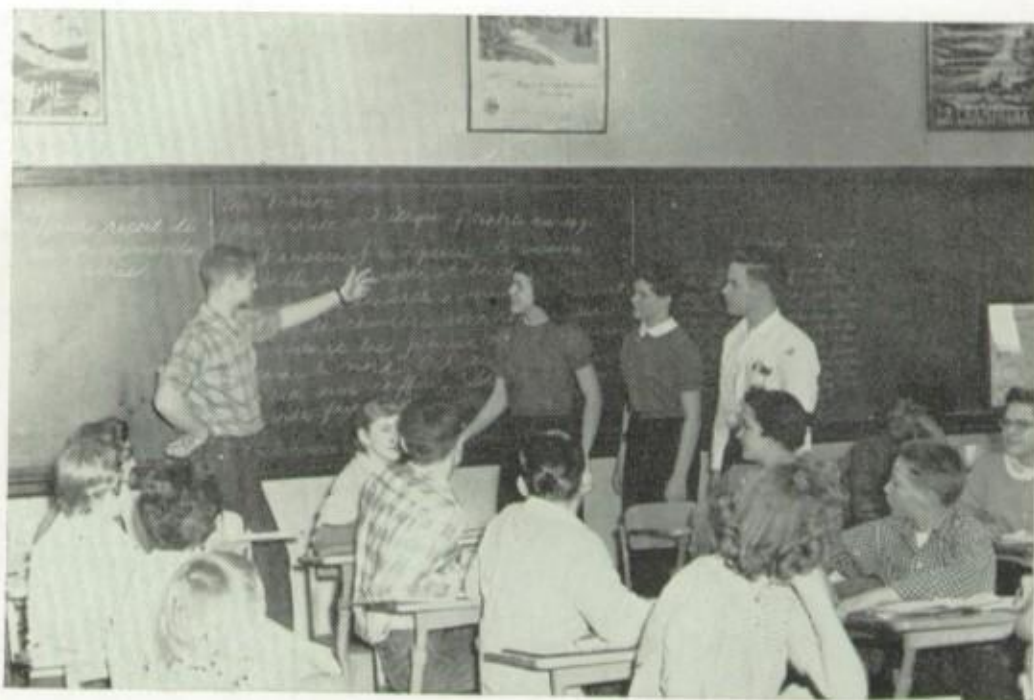

Physics consisted of the study of the five forms of energy: light, heat, electrical, mechanical, and chemical energy. Again laboratory experience was a valuable asset in learning.

Physics' problems and exercises were supervised by Mr. Zeiter.

Squeals were frequent in Biology class when Mr. Hebermehl handed out the frogs.

Foreign Language Department

A letter for the French 2 class was explained.

To provide the opportunity to learn something of foreign languages, the language department offered Latin, Spanish, French, and German. Thus we were prepared to meet the challenge of our shrinking world.

Latin is considered the language of languages for almost all trace their origin to it. Through the study in Latin, offered four years, the student is better able to use and understand the English language.

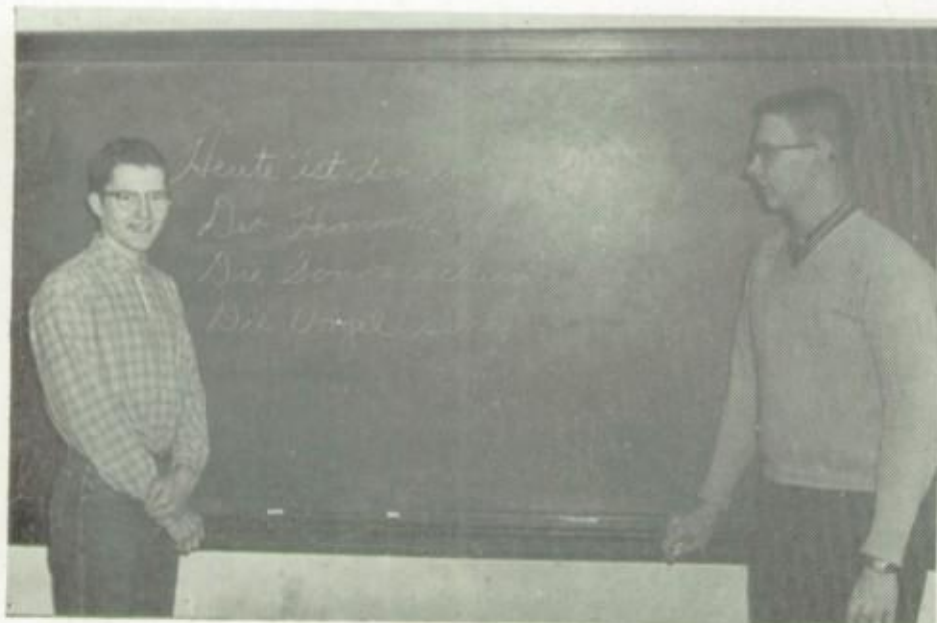

Spanish, another four year course offered, is the language of commerce, being used a great deal in the commercial world. It also provides a better understanding of the South American Spanish speaking countries.

For those interested in literature, music, fashions, foods, and diplomacy, French was the language to study. This year's program was highlighted by the exchange of recordings on tape between Danville and a French town.

Science, industry, philosophy, music, foreign commerce and politics—German is important in each of these fields. Two years of German were offered to meet these demands.

Foreign languages play a major part not only in high school and college but in the affairs of the world. A better understanding of languages provides for a better understanding of foreign neighbors.

John Watkins and Dick Schwartz examined some sentences in German 4 class.

Board work assisted the Latin students.

Miss Legg's Junior A Cappella class exercised their vocal chords.

Music and Art have long been an important part of the curriculum of DHS. These two studies have provided many happy hours for many students. They were courses that would continue to be loved and practiced even after high school graduation.

Vocal and Instrumental music were the two major divisions of the music department. Junior and Senior Band and the Senior Orchestra were a part of the instrumental division. Boy and Girl chorus classes, Junior and Senior A Cappella Choir, and Euterpeans were the different groups in vocal music. Organ lessons were also offered.

As the work went on a student enrolled in the music department looked forward to the day when he would be a member of Senior Orchestra, Band or A Cappella and take an active part in the musical productions of the year—Fall Concert, Christmas assemblies, and Moments Musical.

The Art Department offered many courses to the student skilled or interested in art. Art 1 was an introduction to the subject. Art 2 was the study of color. In art 3 the students studied fine art and worked with water colors. Toward the end of the semester they began painting with oils, a project which was carried over into the next semester. The history of art was studied in the fifth and sixth semesters. Art 7 and 8 was individual work, with the student concentrating on the points he liked the best.

Highpoint of the art department's work each year was decorating the Christmas tree in the north hall.

The Junior Band practiced long and hard.

The Junior Rembrandts kept busy in Art class.

Fred Carter displayed his skills in the Mechanical Drawing class.

Industrial Education Department

The aim of the Industrial Education Department was to train the students for specific jobs or to use the knowledge for a vocation.

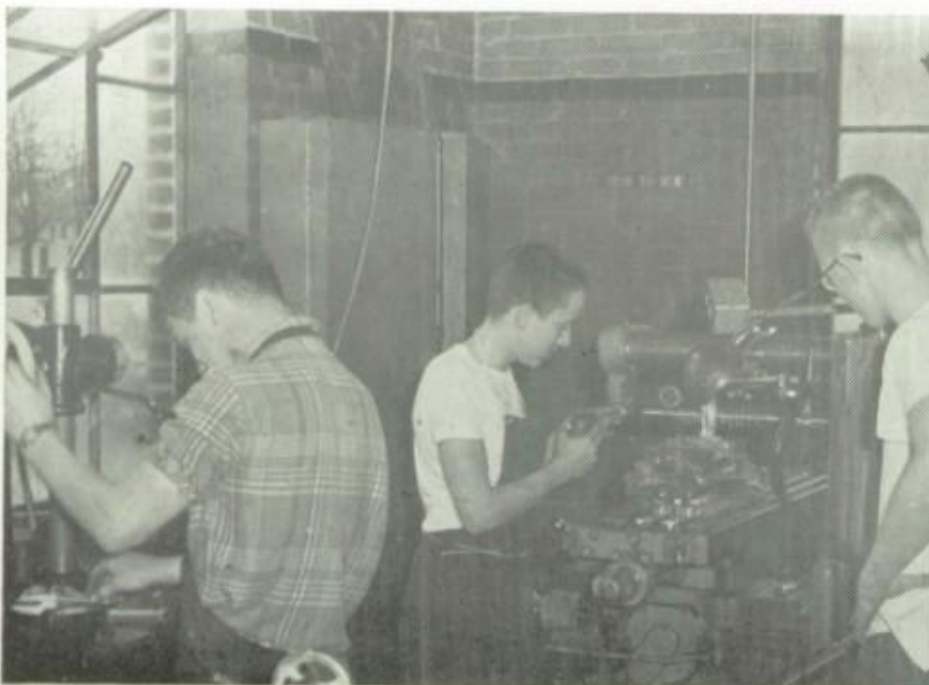

Exploratory shop gave freshmen a sample of the six vocational courses offered. Mechanical drawing students learned the fundamentals of drafting. Architectural drawings were done by students interested in that field. Machine shop gave the students an opportunity to study machines, both simple and complex.

In sheet metal shop, the students studied and worked with the metals; in printing shop others set type and made signs, even their name cards. In auto shop they studied parts of the automobile such as the engine and transmission. Students in wood shop make gunracks, tables, and cabinets.

Advanced students participated in vocational classes in metal shop or machine shop receiving training which would enable them to be prepared for a job in these fields. This was the fifth year the building trades classes had built a house with the aid of the Allied Trades Council. The house was sold and the money will be used for next year's house.

The Vocational Machine Shop students made use of their fine equipment.

The Building Trades class spent many hours on their project house.

Commercial Department

Personal Typing was a popular course among the students.

The Commercial Department of the school furnished a complete curriculum for the students who planned to enter the business world. Distributive Education was valuable to those who wanted on-the-job training.

Business training was a varied course of the basic fundamentals of business. Book-keeping taught the students the methods of keeping yearly records such as inventories and invoices. Typing classes were first acquainted with the typewriter and its keyboard; timing for speed followed, and students developed their speed and accuracy further by typing business letters.

Classes in shorthand first learned and mastered the simple, basic characters of shorthand. Their speed was increased; letters were dictated and transcribed every day. Most of the students taking office practice were planning on a business position. They typed not only on the standard machines, but also on the IBM typewriter. They also used the ediphone and dictaphone.

Business law classes learned about the rights and privileges belonging to them.

Various business machines were encountered in the Office Practice class.

These girls of the Foods class prepared ingredients for a cake.

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics Department was planned to help students learn to care for their future home and family. Homemaking consisted of a varied course to acquaint the freshman with the department and the subjects offered. Studies included foods, clothing, dating, and child care.

Foods stressed the importance of serving an attractive, delicious meal. Classes studied nutrition, planning an efficient kitchen, and care of the cooking utensils.

Clothing classes learned about fabrics, from the raw material to the finished product, latest styles of clothes, tailoring, and procedure of sewing from the yard goods to the completed garment.

Home living was planned to prepare the student for marriage and family; while Home Management was to learn about the home of the student. The girls planned a budget to accommodate their household needs. They also decorated the interior of the Building Trades Home.

Students, mothers, and friends attended the Open House this spring. Displays from the classes included cake baking and decorating, table setting, budget and home expenditures, home planning and decorating, child development, zipper demonstration, and zigzag sewing machine demonstration. The girls from clothing classes wore the dresses they had made. Tea was served to all the guests.

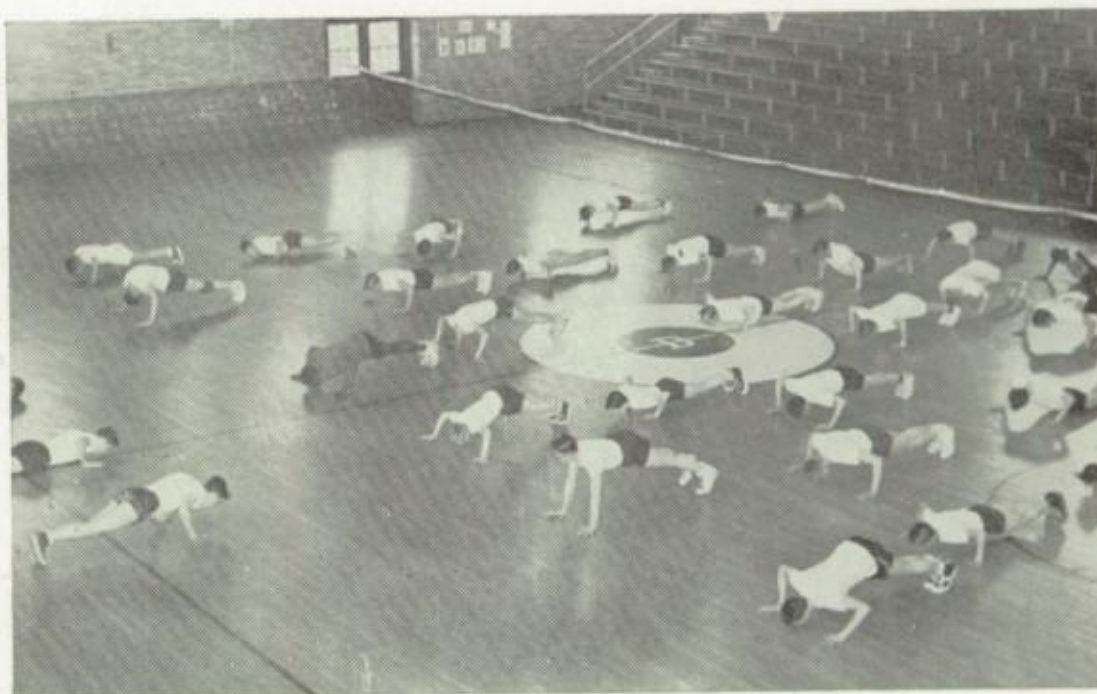

The Home Management class solved many problems for the girls.

The Clothing class was busy stitching.

Physical Education Department

In the Boys' P.E. class, push-ups were routine.

The purpose of the physical education department was to keep the students alert and physically fit. It offered a variety of sports, including recreational and team sports and swimming.

In the girls' department, they roller skated, tumbled, square danced, played softball, volleyball, and speedball. Recreational sports included ping pong, tennis, badminton, and shuffleboard.

They played speedaway, basketball, volleyball, speedball, softball, and others in team sports. Beginning, intermediate, and advanced swimming was open to juniors. The senior girls in advanced PE learned the techniques of a game and how to referee.

The boys participated in such sports as touch football, wrestling, kickball, volleyball, softball, basketball, tumbling, swimming, and track.

The boys' PE department has purchased some new equipment including scales, aerial-tennis, and such things as can be used after graduation.

Both departments included hygiene as a part of the required work for the freshman course to acquaint the student with rules of good health.

After Mr. Whitesell's retirement, his classes were handled by some other members of the faculty.

Basketball was a favorite in the Girls' P.E. class.

In our high-school clubs and extra-curricular activities, we have tested our ability to assume a place of leadership in college or in the world. These experiences have been pleasurable as well as beneficial. Here we have made many of our closest friendships; an important stone in the archway and a well-polished one, was the stone of

Medley

Early in the year the Medley editors met to pick out the theme of the book. After this the various staffs separated to perform their duties and tasks, those that would make a yearbook possible; but each worker was careful to see that his part was done with the theme in mind. Thus working separately but together around the theme, the book was formed and molded by the seniors.

Bob Laury was editor-in-chief of the book this year. His work included doing just about everything that had to be done.

In the fall every member of the staff sold advertising. They were directed by business manager Bill Wilkinson, his assistant Carol Meers, and the business staff. This staff collected money and arranged the advertisements in the book.

Barry Anders, circulation manager, solicited subscribers to the book by the use of the Medley assembly. The money

Meanwhile other staffs began their work. School editor Marilyn Cooper and the staff she headed saw that pictures of the student body were taken and arranged properly in the book. Kathleen Barnes, organizations editor, worked with her staff as they gathered pictures of each of the organizations of the school. Copy editor Mary Ann Pichon and her assistant Carol Henderson worked at writing word copy to go with the pictures.

As the year passed each staff worked harder and slowly the book began to take shape. But the making of this book could not possibly have taken place without the advisers. At every difficult turn the advice and counsel of Miss Frances Watkins, Miss Betty Sullenberger, Mr. Finley Hogbin, and Mr. Billy Byers aided the staff.

Anyone near rooms 341 or 339 or the press room before or after school or during sixth hour could find a group of busy people. They were the staffs—editorial and business—of the student newspaper busily at work putting out the Maroon and White. This year, as in years before, this paper has proved its value for it is the only way students may learn of the news and views of and around DHS.

This year the paper was headed by co-editors, Rose Paras and Jerry Roberts.

The editorial staff's main duties were writing the news, laying out the stories to make the page attractive, writing headlines, and seeing that the paper was at the printers on time. jobs. Their adviser was Miss Katherine Stapp.

Seeing that the paper stayed in the black was one of the major duties of the business staff headed by Allan Wagner. This staff solicited ads early in the fall, laid out advertising in the paper, wrote ad copy, paid printing bills, sold cokes at basketball games and senior name cards, and saw that the paper was delivered to homerooms each Friday morning. Heading these various tasks were circulation manager, Jackee Mervis; advertising manager, Carole Leverenz; extra income, Margie Moore; exchange, Janice Savage; and bookkeeper, Becky Nash. Miss Esther Cowan was their adviser.

The paper is a member of the National Scholastic Press Association and the International Quill and Scroll and was rated as First Class by both.

Cub Staff

Wayne Hasty, editor, and Miss Conover, adviser.

Each morning thirty hopeful journalists gathered in room 302 to learn about journalism and how to publish a newspaper. Their studies were many and varied. Before beginning their newspaper work, they first had to learn the responsibilities and privileges, the rewards and values of being a staff member. This background and a good newspaper vocabulary served as a beginning of their work.

Cubs learned where to find a story, how to interview people, and how to write the final story. Each week they gained practice by handing in two stories. These were written in one of the four styles of stories used in the Maroon and White: news, editors, features, and sports.

Next the cubs learned something about the act of advertising. They learned how to write ad copy and arrange the ads in the paper. Headline writing followed this. The students learned to count the number of letters they could have in their headline and how to make their headlines interesting.

As the year progressed, the cubs were ready for their big event of the year—the publishing of the cub edition of the Maroon and White. The staff was chosen with Wayne Hasty, editor; first page news co-editors, Dianne Deck and Gary Coopersmith; second page editorials co-editors, Patsy Ragle and Nancy Ellen Strawser; third page features co-editors, Dick Yaeger and Georgia Turner; sports page co-editors, Kenneth Harrigan and Bob Martin; ad layout Carolyn Hubbard and Carolyn Tapp; art, Nancy Johnston.

Under the leadership of Miss Helen Conover, the staff worked hard to meet their April sixth deadline and make their paper one of the best.

"Gallia est omnis divisa in partes tres."

"Alouette, gentille alouette, alouette je te plumerai."

"Ich weiss nicht, was soll es bedeuten, das ich so traurig bin."

"Como esta' Usted."

These few phrases were well known to Latin, French, German, and Spanish students respectively. They were a part of their every day class work and the meetings of International Club.

International Club, directed by Miss Goldia Roach, was open to all students taking a foreign language in the high school. Its main interest was to create a friendly relation between America and foreign countries, by learning about these countries and their customs. This was accomplished by various methods.

Talks on life in Germany and Sweden were given by Renate Kling and Bjorn Elmer. Mr. Harold Seip spoke on his travel abroad. A play, given in French by elementary students, was also a part of variety-filled, foreign-type programs.

At Christmas time a special program featured the Christmas story told in the various languages.

In the spring, Legion of Honor Certificates were presented by the club to the students who had excelled in the study of foreign language.

Presiding over club meetings was Christine Paras. She was assisted by Gloria Gardner, vice-president; Marilyn Coopersmith, secretary; and John Wilkinson, treasurer. Their adviser was Miss Goldia Roach.

Bernie Elmer, our Swedish student, explained the customs of his country to International Club as the members listened attentively.

Girls' Club

President Carol McGilvrey entertained with music for one of the programs.

The Juniors presented a trip into the future as their program.

The most popular of the "Highways to Happiness" for many DHS girls has been the Girls' Club. This theme for the year described the club almost perfectly. One of the largest clubs in school, it offered a variety of programs throughout the year.

Memorable programs have included fall and spring style shows, beginning of semester ceremonials, and the class programs. Seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen worked hard to make their program the best of the year. Other programs have included travel talks by Mr. Harold Seip, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dugas, and Bjorn Elmer; Thanksgiving and Easter messages from the Reverend Paul R. Kinder and the Reverend O. P. Reed; and a Christmas party with Santa Claus present.

President Carol McGilvrey not only presided at the meetings, but she also led the club in its projects. Members sold football programs and caroled at Christmas. From the receipts of football programs, the club maintained a student loan fund for girls and presented a check to the best girl citizen. Cabinet meetings were held twice a year, and at the spring meeting the senior members were honored with a gift.

Other club officers helping Carol in her work were Jackee Mervis, vice president; Kay Lash, secretary; Myrna Pichon, treasurer; and Barbara Bailey, pianist. Other assistance came from committees and their chairmen Peggy Anderson, Bess Pergakes, Jean Mullen, Ellen Carson, and Carol Henderson. Mrs. Harriet Rewerts, head adviser of the club was assisted by other members of the faculty.

Student Council

One of the meeting places for the council was 117, where these members waited for the meeting to begin.

In sessions of Student Council, the class and organization presidents, publications editors and business managers, athletic captains and class representatives met to discuss the current school problems and solutions. The council introduced the new lunch hour schedule in use this year. Daily, fourteen students were on lunch hour traffic duty.

Through the Courtesy Campaign, Student Council urged the students to practice courtesy all year long. The aim of the Cleanup Campaign was to improve neatness and orderliness in the schools and communities. Representatives went to grade schools, showed movies, and gave talks about cleaning up the schoolyard.

The Council held a freshman meeting in the fall to explain election procedures and the way to enjoy high school. In the spring, a tour of DHS was conducted for the eighth grade students.

The Medley Signing Party, All School Party, Talent assembly, Student Government Day, and foreign student were also sponsored by Student Council. Members also elected cheerleaders, helped at registration, supervised Homecoming and sold lost and found articles. Five paid assemblies, ranging from a bow and arrow demonstration to a talk on Dickens were sponsored by the Council.

John Deck was the first president of Student Council to be elected by the entire student body. Assisting the president were Larry Pattison, vice-president; Donna Bobbett, secretary; Bart Youmans, treasurer; and Bill Wilkinson, parliamentarian. Miss Helen Thompson, Dean of Girls, was the adviser.

Jerry Roberts, district president; Bjorn Elmer, our Swedish exchange student; and Rose Paras, state convention secretary, clasped hands as a token of friendship.

Dramatic Club

OFFICERS

Standing: Terry Cromwell; Marilyn Coolley; Barbara Bailey; Sharon McMullen; Jackee Mervis. Seated: Jenna Vaught, president; Miss Miller, adviser.

To develop poise both on and off the stage was one of the main objectives of Dramatic Club.

The largest competitive club in the high school, it held tryouts at the beginning of the school year before a faculty judging committee to determine the membership.

Throughout the year meetings were held twice a month. Play groups instructed by student directors presented one act plays at these meetings, giving each member a chance to perform.

The biggest social event of the year was the annual alumni Christmas Banquet. At the Spring picnic "Roscos" were presented to players for outstanding performances, the best one-act play was chosen, and the new officers were installed.

The Dramatic Club play, "Andy Hardy," was presented in February. Hard work and outstanding talent were displayed in this three-act comedy.

Miss Mary Miller, the able adviser, was to be congratulated for the success of the club. The officers who worked under her direction were president, Jenna Vaught; vice-president, Terry Cromwell; secretary-treasurer, Jackee Mervis; play critic, Barbara Bailey; and play manager, Marilyn Coolley.

Wranglers Club

Standing: Jeannine Zeiter; Steve Smith; Jenna Vaught; Becky Nash; Barbara Bailey, president; Mr. Jenkins, adviser; Ada Mary Castle.
Seated: Mrs. Sprouls, adviser.

Wranglers Club has always been well known in DHS for its panel discussions on debatable issues. One of the club's many school activities was the annual Thanksgiving program at which the American Legion presented colors, members gave peace quotations, presented a skit entitled "Thanksgiving Beats the Dutch," and sang patriotic songs. In the spring the club held a party. At the meetings programs featured humorous readings, skits, and pantomimes; Miss Ruth Sandeson, a former adviser, told the club about her trip around the world.

To join Speakers Bureau, the honorary society, one had to give two "A" speeches before the club, attend meetings regularly, give speeches in homeroom, and participate in speech activities outside of school. This Speakers Bureau was led by Jeannine Zeiter, president. Certificates of award were given to those who had been members of the bureau for two or more years. During the year, members have spoken before the American Legion, civic clubs, and other organizations.

President Barbara Bailey was assisted by Steve Smith, vice president; Ada Mary Castle, secretary; Janet Walker, program chairman; Jenna Vaught, membership chairman; and Becky Nash, social chairman. Their advisers were Mrs. Grace Sprouls and Mr. John Jenkins.

Sandra Clary introduced her marine to her two brothers in the Thanksgiving play.

John Caughron and Rosanne Smith planned a program with Janet Walker, program chairman.

Mr. Purkey, director, and Martin Gagie waited for the program to go "on the air."

Radio Staff

This year the members of Radio Staff broadcast many fine programs under the direction of Mr. R. D. Purkey. Programs were aired on Fridays from 3:35 to 3:50 over WDAN radio. Most of these originated in the Little Theater. Each included news of events around DHS and sports highlights as well as the featured group. Most of the clubs, athletic teams, the Junior College, and the special features, such as plays, were on the air sometime during the year.

Auditions for positions on the staff were held in the fall. A tape recording was made of those trying out; faculty members chose the staff on the basis of suitability of voice. Then a party was held for the new members.

One person from each staff was on each program. The staff chairmen this year were Barbara Bailey, general chairman and announcers; Joan Shouse, special features; Jack Wagner, maintenance; Rose Paras, publicity; Jackee Mervis, general news; and Wally Yovaish, sports.

Mr. Pittman and Wally Yovaish watched the engineer testing.

Worth While Writers

Sandra Fleener read her story to the club.

Original writing was the main project this year for the Worth While Writers Club. Membership was gained by presenting an original writing to the membership chairman.

Every first Thursday the members listened to book reports, played library games, and discussed the styles of writing and the procedure of improving their own writings.

Main events of the year included a Valentine party at which time original Valentines were made and brought, a radio program where members read some of their works, and contributions of stories and poems to the Christmas issue of the Maroon and White.

This year the club was led in its work by Gary Schilling, president. Assisting Gary in his work were Sandra Fleener, vice-president and critic; Carol Cheney, secretary-treasurer; Judy Miller, publicity chairman; Jackie Roberts, program chairman; and Gladys Reed, membership chairman. Miss Mildred Boyer was the club adviser.

Jackie Roberts passed out Valentines at the February meeting.

Y-Teens

OFFICERS

Joan Shouse, president; Janice Savage; Marjorie Moore; Myrna Pichon; Bobbie Angell.

A triangle representing three directions of growth—"to grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all religions and nationalities, and to grow in knowledge and love of God"—had a lot of meaning for the members of Y-Teens. It is the symbol of everything the club stands for.

Y-Teens was a club sponsored both as a high school club and as a member of the Young Women's Christian Association. Throughout the year, members participated in programs of religious and fun themes, chili and swimming parties, and the Sweetheart Supper, a joint affair held with the members of Hi-Y.

Joan Shouse was president for this year. Other officers were vice-president, Janice Savage; secretary, Myrna Pichon; treasurer, Marjorie Moore; reporter, Bobbie Angell. Chairman of various committees were dance, Connie Prather; cokes, Darlene Bukowski; coat, Peggie Anderson; social, Mary Marshall; social service, Pat Ragle; membership, Sandra Moss; music, Rozalia Smith; and publicity, Nancy Ost. Advisers were Miss Helen Thompson and Mrs. Spong of the Y. W.

One meeting of Hi-Y and Y-Teens was held jointly to discuss teen-age problems.

Alice Wittig and George Tuggle were crowned as Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Hi-Y

Mr. Seip, adviser; Bruce Wodetzki; Ed Dreher, president; Bob Reetz, Mr. Young; Doug Gledhill. Absent: Mr. Byers.

The Hi-Y, led by Ed Dreher, had interesting programs for the members throughout the year. Mr. Ward, coach of the track team, showed movies about track; Mr. John Fisher of Chicago, head of the Hi-Y clubs was also one of the guest speakers; a panel discussion with military recruiters proved very interesting. The members toured the General Motors plant and held the annual picnic in the spring. All students will remember the dances Hi-Y and Y-Teens held after the football and basketball games. The club also filled a basket at Christmas time for a needy family.

One meeting was held jointly with the Y-Teens when members of both clubs formed a panel to discuss problems common to teen-agers.

The co-advisers, Mr. Harold Seip and Mr. Billy Byers, worked with the boys and their officers, Bob Reetz, vice-president; Douglas Gledhill, secretary; Bruce Wodetzki, treasurer; and Ken Harrigan, chaplain.

Hi-Y merits credit for their efforts to promote their purpose to create standards of Christian character throughout the schools and community.

Bill Payne, Ken Harrigan, Ed Dreher, Janice Savage, Jean Mullen, and Linda Gugin were the panel for the joint Hi-Y and Y-Teens meeting.

Dave Long, Mr. John Fisher, Pete Stufflebeam.

Katherine Craig pointed out to Gary Blankenburg and Fred Carter a spot on the Christmas mural.

Marshall Stone, Fred Carter, Diane Bukowski, Beverly Cook, Bill Bryant, and Norma Griffin posed in front of the hall Christmas tree.

The Art Club led by Bill Bryant, president, had a full schedule of activities this year. All students interested in art met to hear speakers, participate in art quizzes, make Christmas decorations for the school tree in the front hall, and make posters for Student Council. Included in the schedule were tours, parties, and sketching. One of the tours that Art Club took led them to the home of Mr. Booker, a professional artist. Later Mr. Booker came and showed the members some slides of some paintings which are now on exhibition.

Other meetings were made up of such things as lessons from Peter Hunt.

Free hand sketching was much fun for everyone. Each member would take his turn modeling for the other members.

Rafia also proved to be much fun. The president showed each member how to work with it, and then they dug in. He showed them some of the things he made before the meeting was over.

Not only have they done things like this but they have had parties. Their Christmas party consisted of working on decorations and then having refreshments.

All this wouldn't have been possible if the president, Bill Bryant, had not had the full support of Miss Betty Sullenberger, Susan Bengry, vice-president, Diane Bukowski, secretary, and Virginia Cook, treasurer.

Projectors Club

Standing: Bob Jones; Gerald Swanson; Myron Stuebe, president. Seated: Larry Shanks; Miss Brandenberger, adviser; Ted Miller.

An essential part of our education and training in high school was the knowledge we gained from movies and slides in our classes; they added variety and interest to our studies.

All members of Projectors Club had a scholarship of twelve points and a knowledge and liking of projection operation. They not only showed films to classes, but used them to supplement their lessons.

Projectors Club members worked on the Bonfire and the All School Party. They held a Christmas party and spring picnic.

Miss Grace Brandenberger, adviser, was assisted by Miss Judy Ostenberg. Myron Stuebe presided with Larry Shanks, vice-president; Jerry Swanson, secretary; Ted Miller, treasurer; and Bob Jones, program chairman.

They had their special homeroom in 249 with Mr. Harold Bennett and Mrs. Paula Westerlund as advisers working with Miss Brandenberger.

Dick Phebus, Bob Dickleman, and Bob Rodman stopped to chat while working on a film.

Phil Elliot, George Grinestaff, and Dick Hodges checked out a recording machine while working on scheduling.

The members were engrossed in a discussion.

A static electricity generator was demonstrated by Bob Kukla and Bill Satterwhite.

Science Club

Are there really flying saucers? What star is that? Why does this substance react with that substance chemically? Want to know? Science Club offered many talks and discussions on questions such as these.

Their meetings were built around talks, panel discussions, field trips, demonstrations, and experiments all concerning science. The membership was made up of students interested in science, many of whom were enrolled in one of the science courses, Physics, Chemistry, Biology, or General Science. The Science Club's main interest was to promote a greater interest in science and to encourage students to enter the scientific field in their vocations.

Their Christmas party was one of the main events of the year. Here science was forgotten for a while as having fun was the main theme.

During the year, members were encouraged to work on science projects to submit to the Junior Science Academy. This was done not only to encourage interest in science, but also because science scholarships were offered.

This year the club was led by President Dick Hacker. Other officers assisting Dick were vice president, Bob Kukla; secretary, Linda Gugin; and publicity chairman, David Holler. Their adviser was Mr. Harold Seip.

Standing: Bob Kukla; Dick Hacker, president; David Holler; Mr. Seip, adviser. Seated: Linda Gugin.

Diversified Occupations

Ron Clauson, trained as a draftsman at Hyster.

Jerry Jarvis learned to repair cash registers.

Steve Burgoyne became proficient in TV repair at Nixons.

Gale Edwards worked on a surface grinder at Danville Metal Stamping Company.

The Diversified Occupations course was designed to provide vocational training on a part-time, pre-apprenticeship basis for junior and senior boys who met the prerequisites.

In the morning the student attended classes at the high school. Here he received and studied a set of technical books on his trade.

In the afternoon he worked in some place of business where he learned the occupation and practiced the skills at student-learner wages. In this way he received his education not only in the high school, but also in the plant or factory.

Ten firms cooperated to give eleven boys "on the job training." This was the fifth year D. O. has been in operation in DHS. Mr. Paul L. Smoot was the coordinator of the Co-op Trade Training.

Future Teachers of America

Richard Renfro; Ellen Carson; Becky Nash, president; Miss Stapp, adviser; Bob Randall.

"I want to teach." This short statement described every member of the Introduction to Teaching Class. This class gave seniors the opportunity to decide upon a teaching career. Taught by Miss Katherine Stapp, their fifth hour class met to look into all phases of teaching. The first period their work centered around reading educational articles and magazines, discussing the merits of being a teacher, defining the qualifications of a teacher, and writing weekly reports about their discussions. Members also attended a conference in Decatur.

During the second six weeks, the prospective teachers were sent out to observe teaching methods by visiting different schools. After observing what was going on, reports were made on their visits.

Armed with this background the Future Teachers began their practice teaching in the third grade period. Four times a week, they went to a grade school to try their hand at teaching. On Fridays members met fifth hour to discuss the week preceding. Also during this period a diary was kept, telling of each day's happenings.

The second semester meetings were held once a month. At these meetings plans were made for such activities as treating the upper grade boys and girls at the Children's Home to a basketball game and planning and presenting the Homecoming Assembly.

This year's club was led by Becky Nash. Other officers were Bob Randall, vice president; Ellen Carson, secretary; and Dick Renfro, historian.

Standing: J. Shouse; C. Moore; N. Ost; W. Dickson; P. Georgalis; B. Randall; J. Rindt; S. Smith; S. Enos; R. Renfro; J. Emery; G. Frock; A. Bush; J. Vaught; B. Dreidel; J. Deck. Seated: B. Nash; L. Tucker; C. Guthrie; R. Thornton; S. Fleener; E. Carson; K. Lash; Sona Firebaugh; S. McMullen.

Future Distributors of America

Patty Blue; Joann Boucier; Clarice Johnson; Mr. Newton, adviser; Sharon Kelsheimer; Danny Elder, president.

The Future Distributors of America club was an organization whose purpose was training high school students in the fundamentals of salesmanship. All students in the Distributive Education classes were members of FDA. Each student was enrolled in one high school course and had two hours of D. E. classes where they learned the principals of selling. As part of their studies, the class was divided into three groups who each arranged a display case. In the afternoon the members worked in retail stores. They learned to meet the public and to cater to their needs.

In the spring the club held their annual banquet to honor their employers. Guests of honor included: Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Milhon, Dr. and Mrs. J. McLean Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Smith, Mrs. Leona Bennett, Mr.

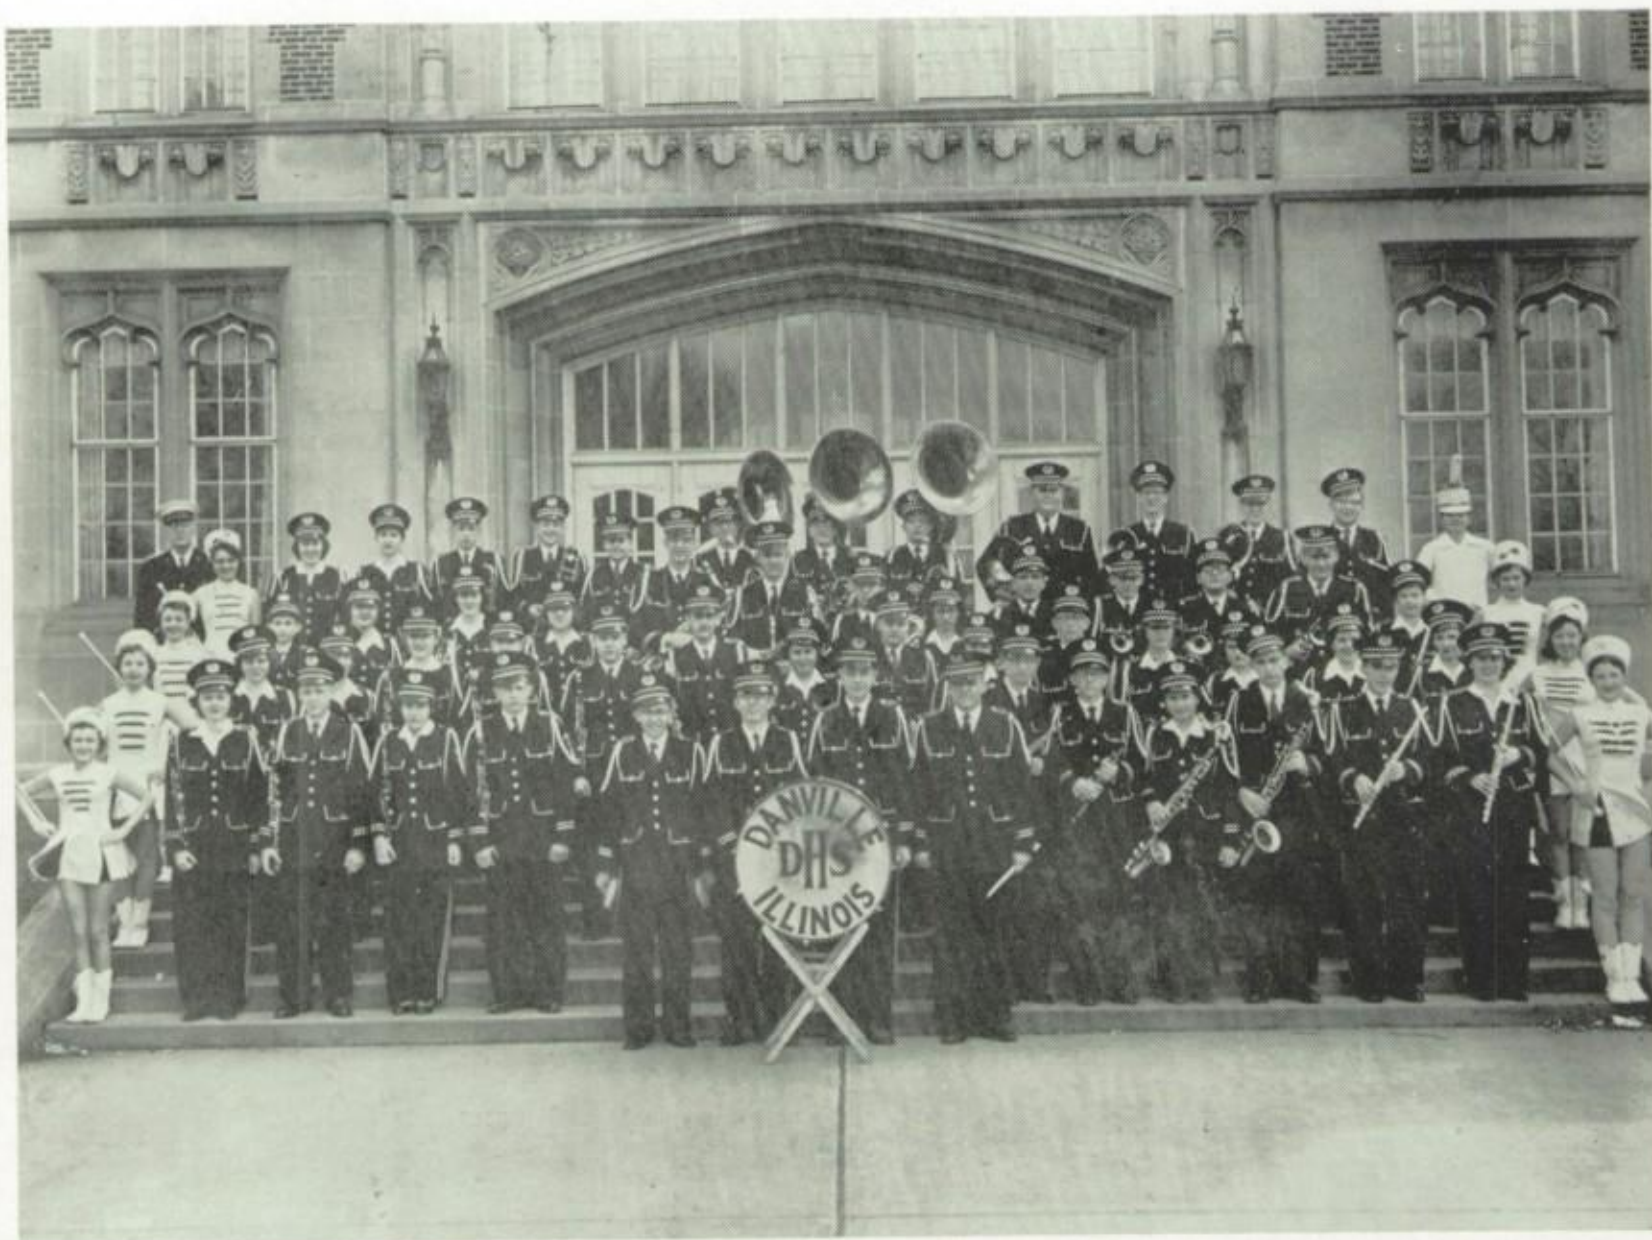

Jerry Hearnley, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hampson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Newton, and the employers of the club members. Danny Elder, presiding toastmaster, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Dan R. Blount. Mr. Blount is the director of Sales Training for International Shoe Company. He spoke on the subject "Blueprint for Success."

Other special events of the year included a Christmas party, a skating party and a picnic held at Turkey Run State Park.

This year's officers were Danny Elder, president; Sharon Kelsheimer, vice-president; Patty Blue, secretary; and Clarice Johnson, treasurer. Five members attended the state convention at Springfield, Illinois, at which Jerry Hearnley, who was president of last year's club, presided.

Senior Band

John Brandenberger; Jim Cunningham, president; Judy Righter; Terry Allen; George Frock; Ada Mary Castle.

The music department would not be complete without the DHS Band directed by Mr. W. B. Holl, which met sixth hour every day. The fans were entertained by the group's lively music at most sporting events.

The biggest events of the year were Fall Concert in November and Moments Musical in March. The band also marched in civic parades and worked with other music organizations to make the Swing Ding a success.

President of the band was Jim Cunningham. Other officers were George Frock, vice-president; Judy Righter, secretary-treasurer; and Terry Allen, John Brandenberger, and Ada Mary Castle, board members.

The other instrumental group of the music department was the DHS Orchestra. The orchestra played not only classical music but popular music as well.

On the Christmas assembly they gave their interpretation of a Toyshop. Dressed as tin soldiers, rag dolls, and special characters, they gave a very realistic and enjoyable performance. Student directors Joyce Rindt, Judy Hembrey, and Ruth Thornton each directed one number. For Moments Musical the Orchestra joined with the band to give Mozart's "Impressario Overture," then dressed in fancy hats to help perform in the Crazy Rhythm numbers.

Members of the orchestra also participated in Fall Concert, Baccalaureate, and the annual Swing Ding. Mr. W. B. Holl directed the orchestra and advised the Metronome Club of which all orchestra students automatically became members. Ruth Thornton served as president with Joyce Rindt as vice-president, Minnette Watson as secretary-treasurer, and board members Mary Jane Curtis, Eva Huff, Sandra Clary, Sandra Vandiver.

A Cappella

The A Cappella Choir expressed itself in song every morning in room G-202 under the direction of Miss Pansy Legg and Miss Helen Wolff.

Fall Concert was the production for the choir in the fall. At Christmas the choir's activities included caroling in the halls and the annual Christmas assembly. In addition to this, members of the choir sang for several civic organizations. At Christmas, the choir also participated in the Illinois Wesleyan Christmas program in Bloomington.

All was not work, for parties, usually after each major production, provided a wonderful opportunity to make plenty of new friends.

With the coming of the second semester the choir began to practice for Moments Musical. "Oklahoma County Fair" was the theme that the choir brought to life on the stage.

The choir was led during 1955-1956 by Bart Youmans and Kay Lash as presidents. Myrna Pichon and David Neupert were girl and boy vice-presidents; Gloria Gardner was secretary; Carol McGilvrey, treasurer; Hank Berg, monitor; and Jack Hill, Marilyn Coolley, Patsy Ragle, and Rex Waldron, librarians.

Euterpeans — Ensembles

To be a Euterpean was quite an honor. These people were chosen on the basis of voice quality, dependability, and showmanship. Euterpeans were responsible for Act 1 of Moments Musical where they presented a scene from "Venice," "The City of Romance." Dressed in the typical costumes of the Italians, the Euterpeans danced and sang to the strains of "Santa Lucia" and other familiar Italian songs.

Ensemble groups from the orchestra and band were also chosen to do special numbers. This, too, required many hours of extra practice before school.

The sax sextet represented the swing band ensemble in Moments Musical.

Bill Cunningham and Tom Miller played a special trombone number with the band.

Office Assistants and Monitors

Standing: N. Jarling, B. Spraggs; J. Slifer. Seated: D. Knight.

Every day of the school year, unseen members of the student body helped to keep the school running smoothly. Few people realized the amount and the variety of tasks done about the school by these student helpers. Giving an hour each day, they worked as office assistants, monitors, and switchboard operators.

Office assistants collected attendance slips, delivered call slips, filed cards, and ran general errands. They helped not only in the deans' offices, but also in the offices of Mr. Holl, Mr. Bates, and the Business Office. By doing these routine office tasks, the students gave the officials time to attend to their more important work.

The switchboard operators worked in the main office taking incoming calls, relaying calls, and helping to provide room-to-room communication.

During the two lunch hours, monitors were stationed about the building to prevent running and eating in the halls. They also kept students from going into the part of the building where classes were going on, thus saving teachers from annoying interruptions.

For working hard with little praise, these students and their adviser, Miss Helen Thompson deserve a salute from the student body.

Library Club

Standing: Pat Kegley, president; Bill Satterwhite; Judy Meek. Seated: Linda Scarlett.

Did you ever notice the neatness and orderliness in our DHS library? Did you wonder who the person was taking attendance? Did you ever have to ask for help in finding a book? Members of the Library Club were responsible for these things and many more. Students eligible for membership had to maintain a twelve point average and help in the library one period a week. Their duties included putting away books, straightening shelves, writing overdue notices, stamping new books, and filing. By doing these tasks, the students left the librarians, Miss Galloway and Miss Watts, free to give their attention to the student body.

Club meetings were held every other Wednesday morning during homeroom at which time members gave book reports, made plans for special projects such as decorating the library Christmas tree, and contributed to the Hi Li News. Hi Li, the official publication of the Student Librarians of East Central Illinois, was edited this year by Danville High School with Linda Scarlett in charge.

The club has also purchased pictures for the library. Members attended a spring conference of the Student Librarians of East Central Illinois in Urbana and held a spring breakfast honoring the senior helpers.

Pat Kegley, president, led the club in its activities assisted by Bill Satterwhite, vice-president; Judy Meek, secretary; Linda Scarlett, treasurer; and Gloria Gardner, social chairman.

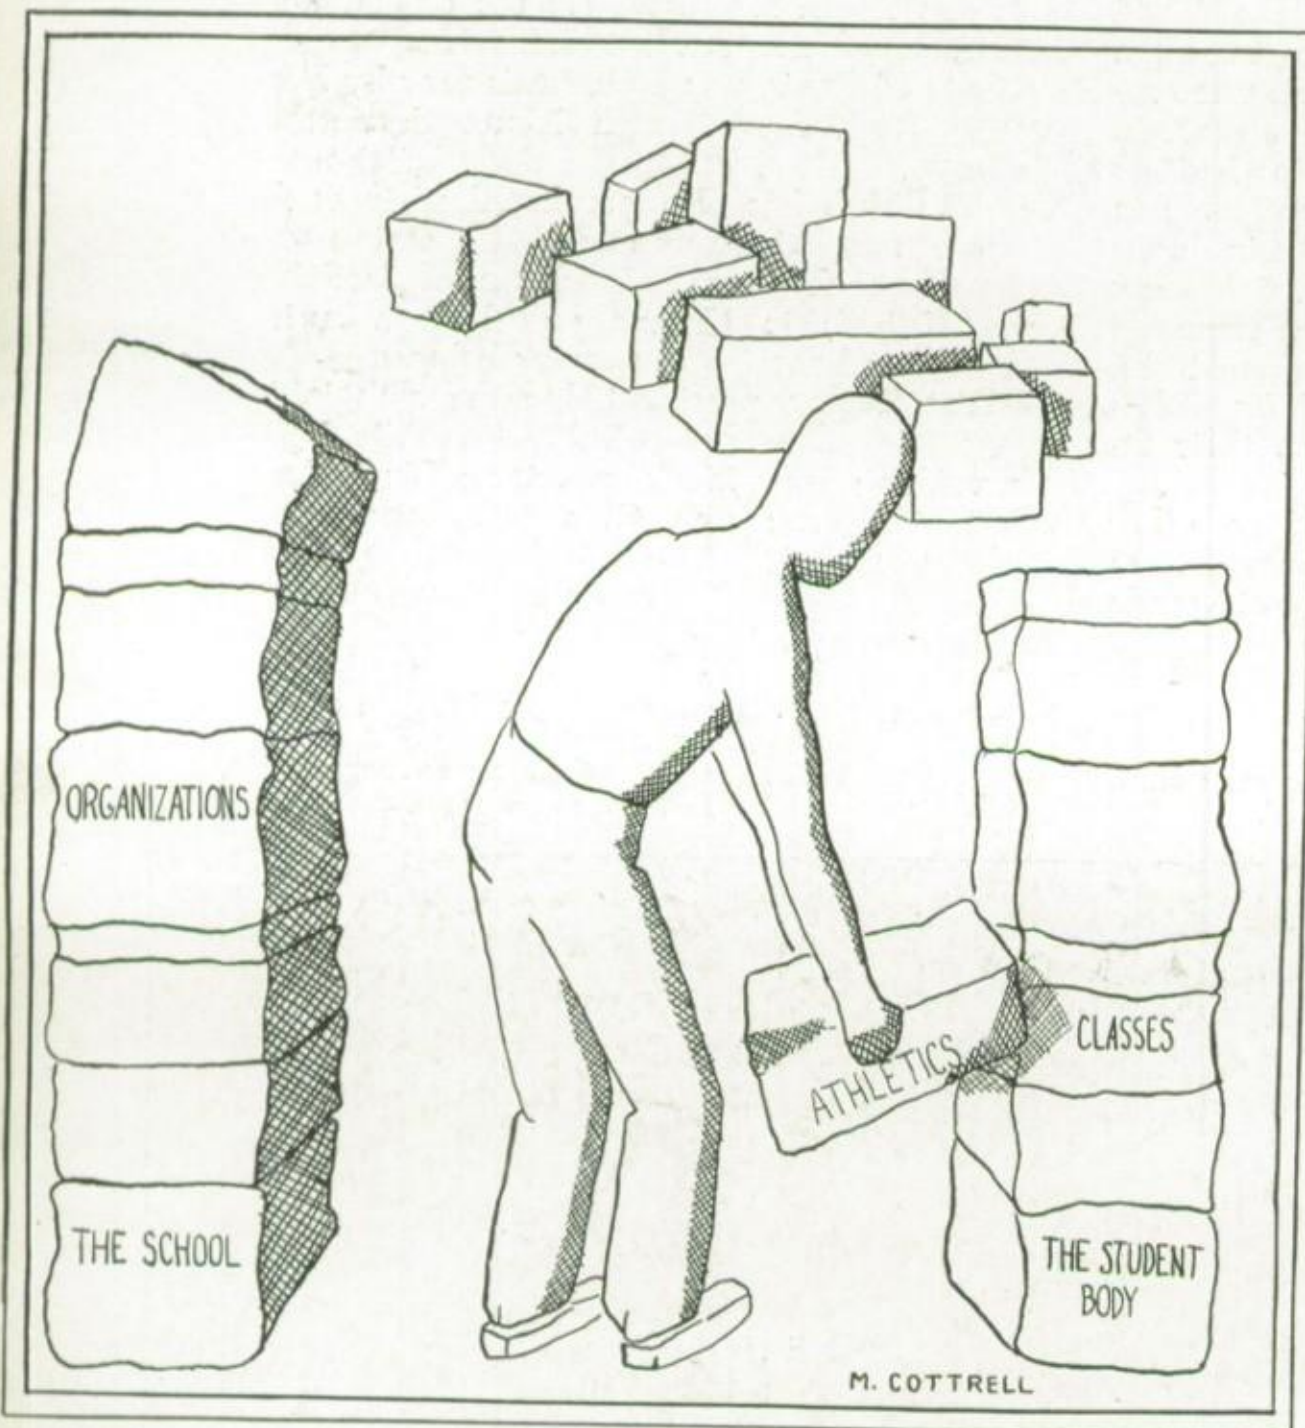

Lee McCool, Linda Murray, and Sue Hoover worked at the Loan Desk before school.

Miss Watts and Miss Galloway were most eager to help any student.

Our archway would prove very unbalanced if we did not include good health and sportsmanship as gained through individual and team competition. Varied opportunities to develop these traits were given us. We wish to honor Mr. Ned V. Whitesell, recently retired Athletic Director, who not only built winning teams in DHS but fine character as well. For enjoyment, skill, and all-around development, we give you

-----ATHLETICS

Mr. Whitesell

Under the leadership of Mr. Ned V. Whitesell, athletic director, coach, and teacher at Danville High School for twenty-five years, our school and city have known some of the finest teams in the state. This was possible only because of Mr. Whitesell's beliefs which he taught his players—those of good sportsmanship, fair play, strict training, and team co-operation. His co-operation with the faculty and his stress on the scholarship of his players was also well-known. Under his leadership Danville teams won Big 12 championships in both football and basketball, and twice his basketball teams entered the state tournament. However, by promoting the minor sports, he gave more boys the opportunity to participate in a sport. He put the welfare of his boys above all else.

Due to ill health, Mr. Whitesell has retired from his position in the school, but not from our memory. For his outstanding service to the coaching profession, Mr. Whitesell received a coaching award from the Illinois High School Athletic Coaches Association. The Danville Board of Education designated that the football field should be known as Ned Whitesell Field. We, the members of the Medley staff, hope that this chapter pays a slight tribute of thanks to our beloved Mr. Ned V. Whitesell.

We know he'll be missed, but that is only a part of it. The imprint of the standards he has set will remain as a permanent record. He has many friends here who will always remember him.

The Boys' Athletic Association was responsible for the awarding of the "D's" and points to the various members of the athletic teams and cheerleaders. The officers, the coaches, and the captains of the various teams formed the athletic Board of Control. They held meetings at the end of each sports' seasons. Each of the coaches prepared a list of awards; the club discussed and voted on the winners of points and "D's."

BAA introduced a method of giving letters by presenting them to the boys at a special assembly.

Upon Mr. Whitesell's resignation, Mr. Lawrence Newton was the temporary adviser of this club. BAA co-operated with the Pep Club in having pep assemblies and helped with Homecoming.

This year's officers included Bob Jones, president; Wilbur Dickson, vice-president; Larry Hawkins, secretary-treasurer; Tom Day, business manager; and Bill Wallace, advertising manager.

The Board of Control met in Mr. Newton's room to vote on winter sports letter candidates.

Coach Ross presented his candidates for Cross Country to the Board of Control.

Varsity Football

This year the Maroons seemed to be on the short end of the score. They considered it "just one of those years." Not a thing went right for Danville, and everything went right for the opposition.

The Maroons started the season against their annual opener, Crane Tech. The two teams fought hard and the game ended 0 to 0. On September 23, Kankakee came to Danville and the Maroons posted their only victory of the season to the tune of 25 to 0.

The Maroons then journey to Urbana for their first Big 12 encounter, but despite the very outstanding game of Melvin Lewis, they were turned back by the score of 19 to 0. The following week, Wheaton came to Danville for their first encounter with the Maroons and defeated them 20 to 0.

On the 13th of October, Champaign sent a barrage of heavy artillery Danville's way and crushed them 53 to 0. After holding Champaign in the first quarter, Danville couldn't stop the hard running twin city backs, and fell to the wayside. The next week the team journeyed to Mattoon and was defeated 13 to 6.

On October 28, a drenching rain and a big Streator team spoiled Danville's Homecoming. Joe Darnell, a scrappy little freshman, put on a brilliant running exhibition and scored a touchdown for Danville, but Streator won anyway, 31 to 6.

Danville then went to Clinton, Indiana, and played its best game of the year. Mel Lewis and Co-captain Tom Day each scored a T.D. but the Maroons still ended on the short end of a 13 to 14 score.

Danville finished the season at Lincoln with Darnell scoring twice and Lewis once. However, Lincoln still won 24 to 21.

This year's team was led by co-captains Tom Day and Bob McNeese. Mel Lewis and Don Tabor were chosen to lead next year's team and Lewis was also chosen as the most valuable player.

Coach Grierson pointed out a play to a quarterback.

The enemy was off for a long gain as he got away from Brown.

Reserve Football

The junior Maroons finished a successful season with a 5-2-1 record.

The team opened against the Decatur Reds and beat them 12 to 7. Urbana then came here and was defeated 19 to 7.

On October 1, Champaign defeated Danville 10 to 0. Don Wills intercepted a pass on the 2 yard line and ran 98 yards to a T. D. It was called back, however, because of clipping.

Danville and Georgetown then fought to a 7 to 7 tie. The Maroons then defeated Hoopeston 19 to 13, but 4 days later fell to Oakwood 14 to 0. Danville then trounced the Unity of Tolono team, 34 to 0. The little Maroons concluded their season at Westville by winning 7 to 0.

The junior Maroons were able to field a bigger team this year than they have been able to in recent years. Coaches Joe Ward and Arnold Ave had some 55 freshmen and sophomores from which to choose.

This year's team proved to be a hard working team and much praise should be handed coaches Ave and Ward for the excellent work they did whipping these young boys into shape for the hard and long season which lay ahead of them.

Danville tried to stop the ball carrier.

Cross Country

The DHS cross country team had one of its weaker teams, but future prospects looked better. Danville placed 8th with 186 points in the Big 12 meet at Urbana.

Wilbur Dickson captained the team this year and was chosen most valuable by his teammates. He placed second in the Big 12 and in the district conference meets and 38th in the IHSA state meet. In the dual meets, he won six first places, two second places, and one third place.

This year the IHSA state meet proved that the 2 mile would have to be lengthened because too many boys finished close together, and the judges had a difficult time picking the order of the finishing.

Dickson took the lead.

They were off with the bang.

The young Danville basketball team compiled a season's record of 10 victories and 14 losses. Their record in the Big 12 was 4 and 8.

The Maroons played several fine ball games. Two of their better games were a one point victory thriller over Pekin and an upset over highly favored Robinson.

Danville opened their season with a 57-27 victory over Catlin. This was followed by a loss to Kankakee Kays and a heartbreak, 51-47, to Streator. Victories over Bradley, Urbana, Hoopeston, and a loss to Springfield brought them to the holiday tournaments at Crystal Lake. In the tournament the Maroons split, losing one and winning one. After the holiday tournament, they defeated Champaign 63-55, Robinson 0-50, Pekin, in a thriller, 71-70, and Urbana, 62-48. In the Regional, held at Danville, the team defeated Jerry Kleiner, captain and most valuable, was the leading scorer for the year with a total of 369 points. Wendell Anglin, the sophomore forward, was close behind with 326. Ed Miller was selected by his teammates to lead the 1956-1957 squad in what should be a highly successful season considering the fact that four of the five regular starters will be returning.

Other graduating lettermen besides Kleiner included guards Ray Brown and Bob Le-Conte; and forwards Jerry Roberts and Jim Jones, who was out the entire season due to a mishap in an early season practice in which he broke his leg.

UNDERCLASS

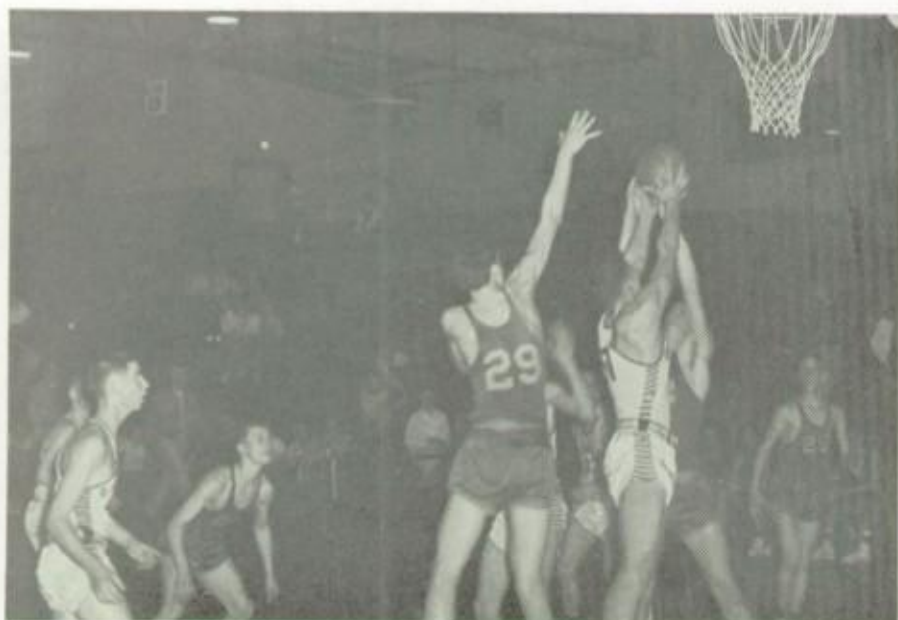

The reserve basketball team, under the able coaching of Ray Grierson, had a season record of 12 victories and 8 losses. One of their better games was their victory over Pekin, a team who had lost only a few games. The leading scorer was Jack Gasche. Other reserves who saw much action were David Ashby, Dave Brown, Gene Wright, Glenn Michaelson, Jerry Voigt, and Jim Grubbs. Their twelve wins were over Catlin, Kankakee, Urbana (twice), Hoopeston, Champaign, Peoria Manual, Streator, Robinson, Pekin, Mattoon, and East Peoria. The most thrilling of these was the 64-63 victory over Peoria Manual. Eight scattered losses were to Streator, Bradley, Springfield, Kankakee, Peoria Central, Champaign, Mattoon, and Paris.

Each reserve game was started at 6:30 and played just before the varsity game. The reserves also accompanied the varsity on all trips except the tournaments.

These boys did their best to make the training count as they hoped to advance to the varsity squad next year.

Gasche went up for the ball.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Danville High School freshman basketball team, under the coaching of Mr. Dwayne Roe, compiled a season record of nine wins and three losses. The Little Maroons, who were very short in height, consistently defeated teams much taller than they. Their lack in height was completely overshadowed by team spirit. Since most of their games were played on Saturday, they didn't get too much attendance.

Their lone losses were to Hoopeston, Franklin Junior High of Champaign, and Decatur. Their nine wins were over Covington (twice), Champaign (twice), Decatur, Franklin Junior High of Champaign, Westville (twice), and Lafayette Jefferson.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The intramural basketball league was composed of boys who didn't participate in winter athletics. This year there were eighty boys out for the sport, which was under the direction of Mr. William Christy. The teams played their games on Wednesday and Friday of each week; each team played fifteen games apiece.

The year's leading scorer was the Trojan's Sam Hill with 154 points. The second leading scorer was Larry Holtz of the Cossacks with 147 points.

At the end of the regular season the Cossacks and the Dragons were tied with records of 11 and 4. In the championship game the Dragons won by a score of 47-41.

Captain Bill Wallace, Coach Don Pittman, Fred Wright inspected the state meet medals won.

The DHS wrestling team, captained by Bill Wallace, completed the most successful season in the history of the team with 7 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie. Bill Wallace, Bob Jones, and Bob Spicer paced the matmen, being undefeated in dual competition.

"Pitt's" men took second place in the Big 12 Meet held at Streator. Fred Wright, heavyweight, and Ken Weaver, 103 pounds, paced the Maroons with first place medals, while Ken Parsons at 112 pounds; Larry Hawkins, 138 pounds; Bill Wallace, 145 pounds; and Jim Timberlake, 154 pounds, followed with second place medals.

The week after at the Sectional the grapplers took second. Six boys qualified in the Sectional Meet to go to the State meet at Proviso. These successful grapplers were Ken Weaver, 103 pounds; Bob Jones, 120 pounds; Larry Hawkins, 133 pounds; Bob Spicer 138 pounds; Bill Wallace, 145 pounds; and Fred Wright, at heavyweight. Of these boys Fred Wright succeeded in getting a second place medal.

At the close of the season the team and Coach Don Pittman chose their captain, Bill Wallace, as the most valuable wrestler of the year. They elected Bob Spicer as the captain of the 1956-57 squad.

Swimming

With a record of 7 wins and 1 loss, the swimming team had a wonderful season. They splashed past Bloomington, Champaign, and Urbana, then lost their only meet to Peoria Central with a score of 36-41. The next meet was again with Peoria Central, and we skimmed past them 39-38. Next we competed with Bloomington, Champaign, and Urbana and beat all of them.

At the Riverside-Brookfield Invitational Meet, the swimmers placed second. In the medley relay Danville set a new record of 2:00.4 for the invitational meet and a new pool record. The team members were John Stifler, Ken Harrigan, Bernie Elmer, and Terry Allen.

At the Big 12 Conference Meet in Champaign the Maroons placed second. First places were won by Jack McCoy in the 50 and 100-yard free style and by Herb Kidwell in diving.

Led by Terry Allen and the medley relay team, Danville grabbed fifth place in the state prep swimming meet. Terry finished second in the 200 yard free style and swam a

The 1955 track team, captained by Kerry Hamburg and coached by Joe Ward, opened the season with a victory over Cayuga. The squad then beat Georgetown, placed 8th in the Urbana open with 10 points, and placed 8th again in the Paris relays with 17 points.

After a short streak of bad luck by losing to Urbana, Champaign, and Decatur, the Maroons topped Attica, Indiana, and placed 4th in the Urbana relays with 33 points. At Richard Cooper and Ronald Boyd took the hurdles in stride.

The squad traveled to Urbana for the District meet and placed 4th with 13 points. At the State meet, Wilbur Dickson tied for 1st in the high jump with 6 feet 2 inches, and won 1st place again at the Big 12 meet at Peoria Manual. Danville placed 8th with 8 1/6 points.

The freshman-sophomore team ran along with the varsity team and beat Cayuga, then lost their only meet to Urbana, and drove ahead to beat Champaign and Decatur. In the Quadrangular Meet held here, the squad placed 1st with 70 points.

At the Paris relays, the freshman-sophomore 880-yard relay team succeeded in winning 1st place. At the Big 12 meet, with the addition of one sophomore in place of a freshman, the team again won 1st place.

Rawlan Lillard was elected to captain the 1956 team. With the underclassmen advancing to the varsity and Wilbur Dickson returning, an even better season was anticipated.

With only one letterman returning from the 1954 State Championship team, the young 1955 tennis team achieved a record of 9 wins and 3 losses. The Maroons opened the season with a dual win over Springfield. The following week Danville lost to a strong Decatur squad. This ended Danville's streak of eighty-two consecutive dual match wins. Last year's team captain and most valuable player was Paul Haussy. John Kay was captain-elect for the 1956 season. Coach Glen Robertson looked forward to a highly successful season.

The 1955 team won the District and qualified four men for the State. The squad was composed of a group of 25 boys who challenged for higher positions on the "ladder." In this way, the team was subject to change from one match to another. This stimulated a sense of competition among the players.

At the close of the season Dick Kronmiller was elected to captain the 1956 team. As

If a challenger was successful in beating his opponent, he took his place on golf "ladder." When the day of a match came, the top five boys on the "ladder" met the golfers from the rival schools. Baseball 1955

The Danville High School baseball team under the direction of Coach Bill Christy compiled a season record of 12 wins and 5 losses. The Maroons got off to a slow start but hit their peak near the end of the season. Due to bad weather several of the regular games were postponed and could not be re-scheduled.

The Maroons opened the season by splitting a double header with Springfield, followed by two losses to a strong Decatur team. Next the Maroons rolled up successive victories over Villa Grove, Ogden, Covington, Mattoon, (twice), and Chrisman. The Maroons' streak was finally ended by an old rival, Champaign. Following that was a win over Covington which ended the regular season.

In the district, Danville smashed Villa Grove, Chrisman, and Mattoon—all by ten run margins. In the sectional, Danville de-

The highlight of the year was the no-hit, no-run game pitched by Don Berry. The team's success was due to the fine leadership of Coach Bill Christy, Captain Harry Wills and pitchers John Stevenson, Don Berry, and Jim Meers. John Brandenberger was chosen the most valuable, and Raymond Brown was elected captain for the '56 season.

Managers

An integral part of the teams were the managers. Their work wasn't easy; they worked long and hard to do their part and have a successful season. Before games they passed out equipment and then collected it afterward. They handled and administered first aid, ran errands for the coaches and players, packed equipment for trips, checked the schedules to see if they were correct, and repaired, if possible, the broken equipment. Perhaps the most important was their boosting the morale of the team and getting along with everyone.

Mr. Fay Bolser, the all-round handy man of DHS athletics, was one of the most popular men with the players. His jobs included packing equipment for trips, giving first aid to players, laundering soiled uniforms for coming games, sympathizing and praising as the need occurred.

These praise-deserving boys were Bill Schendel, who worked with the varsity football team; Larry Pattison and Hank Berg with the basketball squad; Larry Katz with the freshman basketball group; Keith Beam with wrestling; Bill Graff with track; and Dick Schwartz with the baseball team. They were assisted by several other boys in each sport.

Mr. Bolser checked the baseball equipment with Dick Schwartz before the season opened.

Fans gathered around the usher for help.

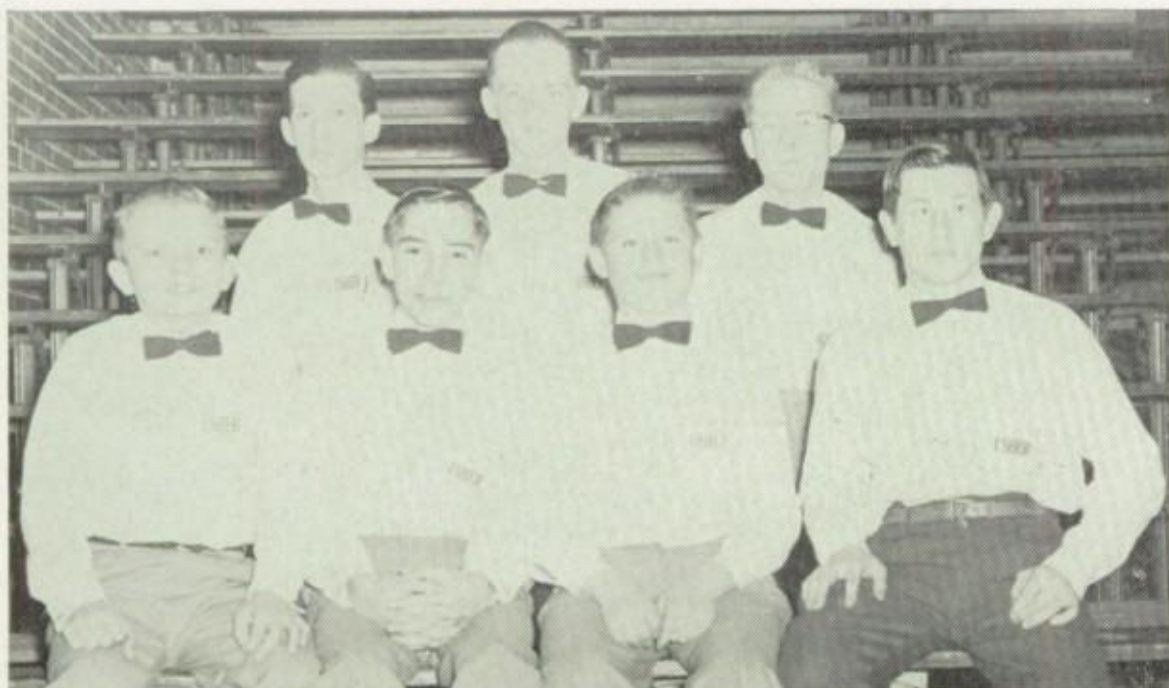

The first football and basketball games were exciting, but most people couldn't find their seats very easily. Then the ushers came to their assistance and directed them. Most of the time the ushers were needed to do this, even after the first game.

The ushers, who were always dressed in slacks, white shirts, and bow ties, gave of their time and efforts to make the games as nice as possible. They helped the little children who were lost to hunt their parents; they helped out at the concession stands during games; they maintained order at all times.

Certainly every fan appreciates the kindness, friendliness and willingness to help at all times. Sometimes it was very difficult to find your seat when everyone was seated. The ushers were always there to help.

To some, the job of an usher would seem simple, but being dependable, polite, and courteous at all times is not an easy task. All the ushers this year were certainly qualified for this job.

A person who gives his time and efforts for a school service is to be highly congratulated.

Cheerleaders

"So let's join in a cheer" for the Danville High School cheerleaders. These five persons worked hard to instill a winning spirit in the teams and to liven the cheering sections with their clever cheers. They accompanied the teams on some of their out-of-town games. In the fall they attended a cheerleading clinic at Illinois State Normal University where they learned many new ideas to bring home to the student body. Combining acrobatics and stunts they presented the new cheers at the pep assemblies. Our cheerleaders always extended the courtesy of a cheer of welcome to the visiting teams.

As before, the cheerleaders were chosen by the homeroom representatives and student council. Those who were elected for both the reserve and varsity teams were Nancy Ost, Sharron Wright, Barbara Daly, and Bill Bryant. Ruth Blue, one of last year's members, returned to DHS at mid-semester and joined the cheerleaders. Miss Helen Holliday was the new adviser for the group.

Nancy thrilled us with her antics.

After a lapse of two years, the Pep Club was reorganized this year, through the efforts of the booster committee and adviser, Mr. Fink, who gave of his time and effort to enlarge the membership of the club.

There were 150 members in Pep Club, and all were working together to promote better sportsmanship and better attendance to all games, at home or away.

Through the leadership of Wilbur Dickson, president; Tom Sheahan, vice-president; Carolyn Knight, secretary; and Fred Wright, treasurer; the club was enthusiastically joined by students interested in promoting support and interest in all sports offered by DHS. They held meetings once a week and made plans for sponsoring busses for out-of-town games. When unable to attend games, they would furnish the players with a basket of fruit. Even though they couldn't attend all games, they were there in spirit. Plans were also made to establish an emblem for members to wear.

Many congratulations were due to the members and officers for reviving the club and for stimulating interest and support for all sports.

The students learned new cheers in this pep session.

A representative of each class was on the board which planned parties, nominated officers, and gave points.

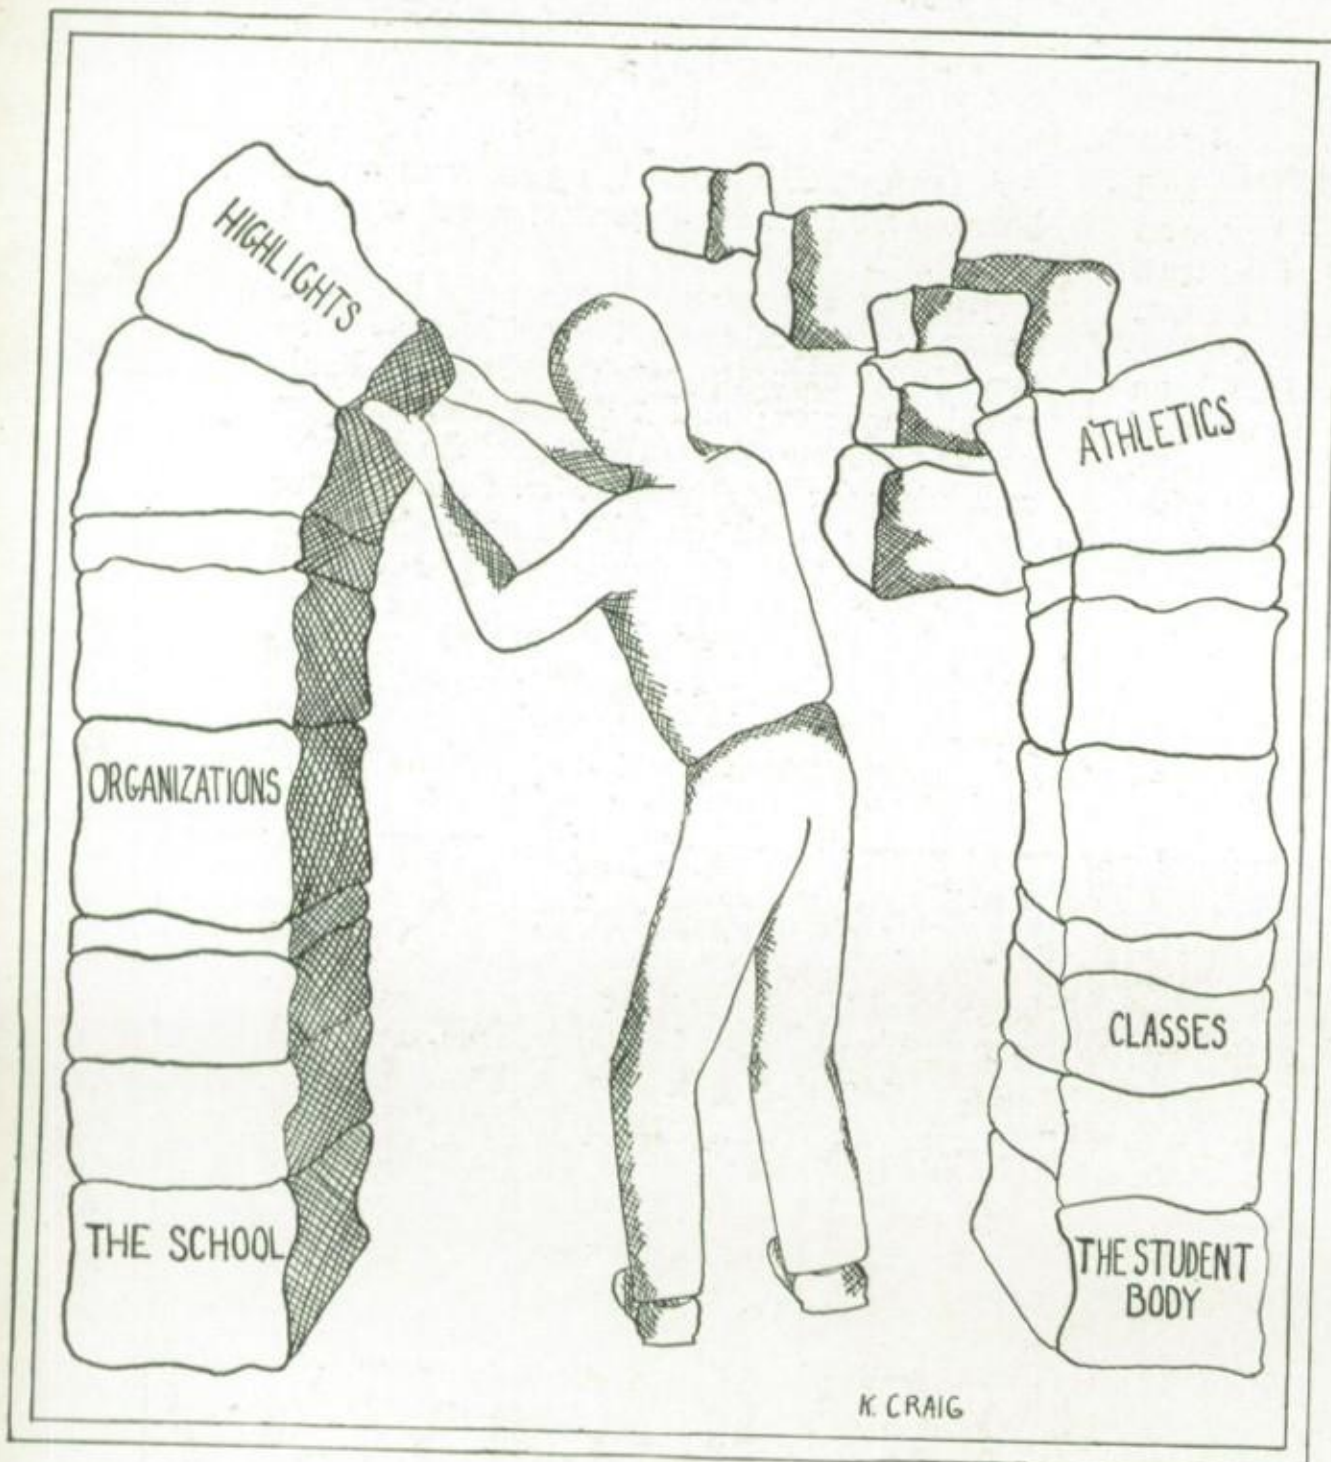

Assisting the president were Phyllis Clendenen, vice-president; Peggy Hines, secretary; Judy Barnett, treasurer; Priscilla Poole, social chairman; and Rowena Cunningham, points chairman. Queen Kay Lash

Burning football dummies, a glittering crown, dreamy dance music—this was Homecoming.

From start to finish it was an occasion to remember, despite the slightly damp weather.

The kickoff for the celebrations was Thursday, October 19, with a pep session-bonfire, followed by a dance at the American Legion Club House.

A highpoint of the festivities was Friday as the student body and visiting alumni saw Kay Lash crowned Queen of the 1955 Homecoming. The Queen's attendants were Marilyn Cooper, senior; Myrna Pichon, junior; Judy Meek, sophomore; and Letitia Edwards, freshman. The co-captains of the football team escorted Miss Lash and Paula Harris, the 1954 Homecoming Queen, who performed the crowning ceremonies.

That evening not even the 31-6 loss to Streator could dampen the spirit of the occasion as the alumni joined the students at the annual dance. With the Queen reigning over the dance and the alumni talking over old times in the Girls' Gym, the evening soon came to an end and with it—Homecoming for 1955.

Alumnae, Mrs. Jean Moody and Miss Shirley Shipman waited as Becky Nash prepared to present them.

Queen Kay Lash was crowned by last year's Queen Paula Harris.

Tom Day attempted to stop this forward gain as a team mate closed in to help.

Fall Concert

With the clapping congratulation of applause, the curtain came down on the Seventeenth Annual Fall Concert. The DHS musicians had completed another successful performance.

The program consisted of five groups—Senior Orchestra, Senior Band, A Cappella, Organ, and Piano. Featuring soloists and student directors, they played music from all over the world.

The Senior Orchestra, directed by Mr. W. B. Holl, started the program by playing a minuet, a waltz, a Spanish serenade, and a number featuring the violin section. The organists, directed by Miss Helen Wolff, followed with a choral and a duet. The A Cappella Choir, directed by Miss Pansy Legg, sang semi-popular, spiritual, and folk selections.

Highlight of the program was the joint A Cappella Choir—Orchestra presentation of Mendelsohn's "Festival Song of Praise." After the selections by an organ and piano group, the Senior Band presented its variety program.

The drum section kept beat.

Miss Legg was applauded.

Carol Whelan, Donna Sue Denton and the boys played a rhythm number.

Christmas

At Christmas the clubs and organizations worked together to create a holiday spirit in high school. Several clubs held Christmas parties. Members of the Art Club decorated the Christmas tree in the North Hall and painted scenery for an assembly. Carols sung by the chorus classes rang in the halls. Smells of cookies drifted from the foods lab; cookies were displayed in the hall.

The Senior Orchestra presented "Dolls in Toyland." As the clock struck twelve all the little dolls and marching soldiers came alive to play their cheerful music.

With the theme, "Hang up the Christmas Stocking," members of the A Cappella came to the stage singing "Joy to the World." As the student body left for vacation, the choir gathered around the Christmas tree and sang carols.

Andy Hardy

"Andy Hardy," a three act play written by Auraria Rouverol, was presented by the Danville High School Players on Thursday, February the ninth.

This was a delightful comedy about America's most beloved stage family. The play embodied three skillfully interwoven stories: one dealt with Andy Hardy's love life; another involved the judge's determination to retire from the bench, "take it easy and enjoy life;" and the third concerned Andy's sister, Marian, a career-versus-marriage situation. When Andy came home from his last year at Colorado Prep School, having managed a "detour" to Mexico, he arrived with the aplomb of a matador. How his cherished and expensive scheme of trying out the scientific system he had evolved for dating girls in general, and Polly Benedict in particular, backfired in the hands of a rival; how Mrs. Hardy threatened also to retire and take it easy if the judge did, put a "For Sale" sign on the front lawn and then found herself in a spot where she had to sell—these were just a few of the many highlights of the comedy. A touch of sadness was portrayed when Grandpa Hardy, a humorous, irascible old darling, died leaving Andy his beloved chess set. Mrs. Willoughby, an over-glamorous type from Hollywood, proved to be very unpopular with the Hardy's when she and Miss Madsen, an ambitious real estate saleswoman, tried to buy the family's home. Polly Benedict and Ronny Newcomb along with other members of the younger set invoked gaiety and variety into the situations. Many other incidents helped to make "Andy Hardy" a complete success. The characters were richly human, and there was throughout a thought-provoking quality which made the play very worth while.

The act three curtain went up in Oklahoma, as the A Cappella Choir joined voices at the "County Fair." With them were cowboys, Indians, the President of the U. S., Governors, Hoboes, and dancers. The choir sang many favorites of the young and old alike.

Between the acts, student organists presented entertainment.

Miss Pansy Legg, Miss Helen Wolff, Mr. W. B. Holl, and their cast, almost two-hundred in size, should be proud of presenting a fine evening of entertainment.

George Frock was busy at his drums.

The tramps sang of the "land of milk and honey."

George Tuggle, Bernie Elmer, and Ellen Carson discussed their scripts.

A little boy heir to millions disappeared, reporters arrived at the scene of the crime by the score, a penny pinching old miser started spending money like water, and a mysterious foreigner tried to evade FBI men with his short wave set as the seniors combined mystery with comedy in the senior class play, "Mr. Icebox."

The play was set in the backwoods of New York near Hawk Lake. With all communications cut from the outside world, it was a race to see which of three newspapers, The Blade, The Standard, or The Examiner could scoop the others with the news concerning the kidnapping and capture. Underhanded methods of throwing rival reporters on the wrong track made the evening delightful with comedy and the fine acting of the senior cast kept the audience in suspense until the final curtain. Miss Mary Miller, director, and her cast of twenty turned in a fine performance.

Mrs. West welcomed Malcolm home.

Assemblies

Our assemblies featured those brought to us by Student Council and those in which our own students participated. A lot of talent was displayed in these many fine programs.

Our pep assemblies gave recognition to the teams. It was a nice way to start the day and the assemblies will always be foremost in our memories.

Julia Laker and Ellen Carson emoted.

Tommy Reed played a melody of songs on the talent show.

The violin section entertained on the Fall Concert assembly.

Fred Wright and Sharon McMullen did an acrobatic dance in the Medley assembly.

An A Cappella group sang on the Fall Concert assembly.

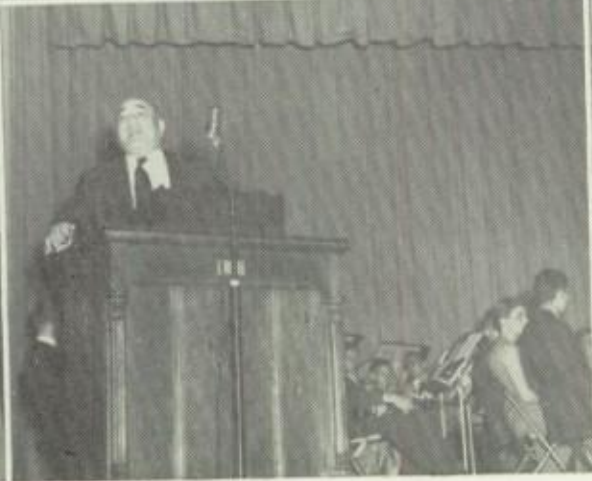

The DHS Swing Band performed on the talent assembly.

Mr. Levin spoke on the Constitution Day program.

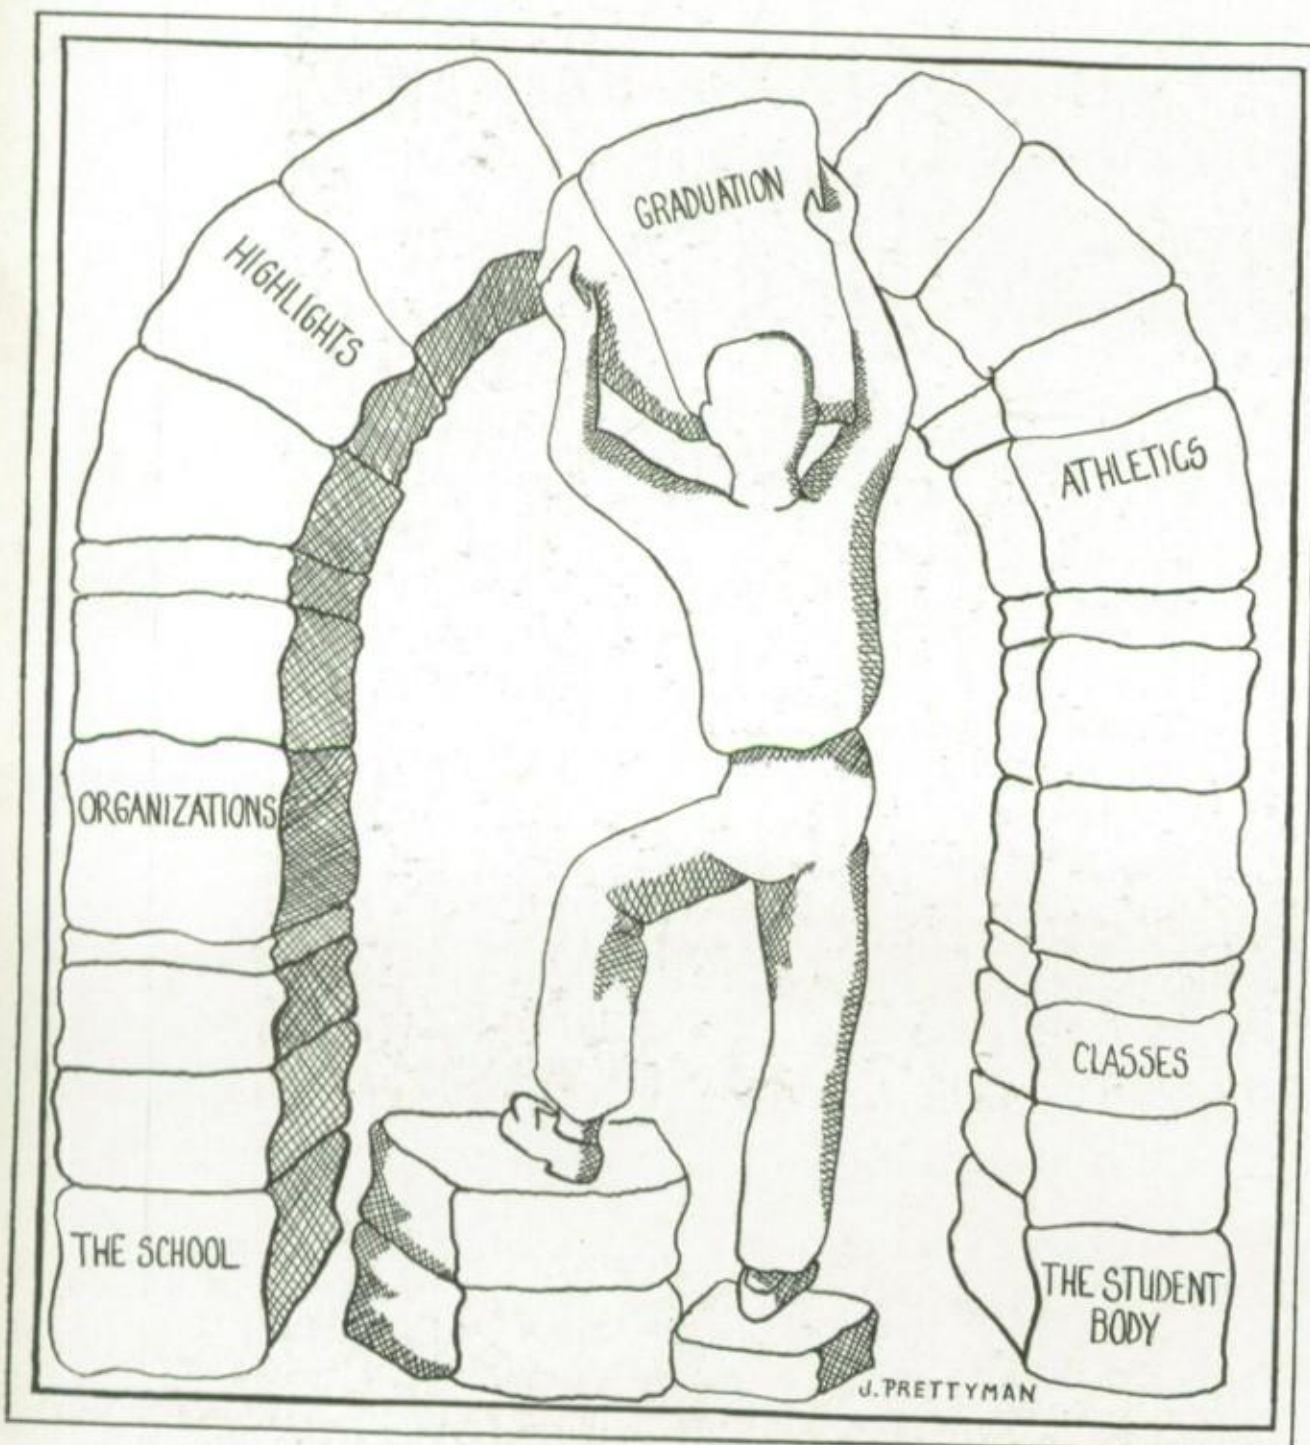

Colonel Larson, the All-American Cowboy, did some trick shots for us.

Mr. Pruth McFarlin and his accompanist entertained us with lovely songs.

The Indian dances were done gracefully by Reginald and Gladys Laubin.

The realization of having reached one's goal is very stimulating. The school recognizes those who have excelled by presenting the honor awards. Some students may enter our Junior College for advanced training or into business life, as represented by our loyal advertisers. All this awaits us at the very climax of our building, as we present to you our keystone

JUNIOR

A bright new sign now identifies our school as Danville High School and Danville Junior College. The four entrances to the city have signs which read, "The Home of Danville Junior College." These plaques were the gifts of the college to the school board and to the city and were presented at a fall convocation.

DJC has grown from a University of Illinois extension to an independent junior college. The attendance has increased every year with many people receiving further education. Nine scholarships were granted by local groups to enable students to reach their goal of a college education.

The junior college had excellent teachers on the staff with courses offered in Liberal Arts, Engineering, Commerce, Pre-Med, Teacher Training, Medical Technology, and Nursing Education. Classes were held during the day and some "capsule" courses were held in the evening.

President Pat Andre led the freshmen with the aid of the other officers, Kerry Hamburg, vice-president; Phil Stitt, secretary-treasurer;

Absent: Phil Stitt; Carol Stickler.

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS

Al Sandefer, president; Mrs. Josephine Fried; Jerry Smith.

COLLEGE

and Terry Cummings and Carol Stickler, student council representatives.

The sophomore class officers were Al Sandefer, president; Gerald Smith, vice-president; Mari Anne Davison, secretary-treasurer; and Richard Bolton and Josephine Fried, student council representatives.

At the Halloween party at Camp Ta-Wa-Si, the students became better acquainted with each other. The Thanksgiving Dance and Spring Prom also proved to be very successful.

Kollege Kapers, a student written and directed stunt show, was hilarious this year with the theme of television programs changed slightly. Titles such as "The Clarence Belch Show," "Captain Kideo," and Alfred Hitchpost Presents" were included. There were ten skits in all with each chairman writing a skit with the aid of a faculty adviser. As many students as possible were used in the production.

"Junior College Jottings" gave a weekly report in The Commercial-News of the college happenings.

Mayor Hicks and other officials had their picture taken with the new sign.

Hi Jean! Well, we didn't write up those projects and sell them this year like we planned. We'll just have to do that next year. Remember American History class and all the tests he gave were real humongous. I'm afraid I'll be taking seniors. I'll be 57."

Hi Jan,
After 10-12 years I finally located you! I'm sorry it took so long but after finding this book I married and left it at my mother's and I now crossed it recently. I hope it brings back good memories for you.
I feel I know you after all this time. I will wish you good luck as your classmates did.
